Britain Ready If Need Arises To Aid France

Delays Formal Representations In France—Italy Tension For Present

RELIES ON AGREEMENT WITH MUSSOLINI

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Britain today stands ready, if the crisis should require the move, to make strong representations to Italy against the clamor for such French territories as Tunisia and Corsica.

So far, according to authoritative circles, Britain is relying on the undertakings of Premier Mussolini of Italy not to alter the situation in the Mediterranean—a promise embodied in the Italo-British friendship declaration.

Britain Resists Pressure In spite of the tension developed between France and Italy through the Italian campaign for return of Rome's former territories, Britain is resisting strong political pressure to make a formal demarche to Italy regarding Tunis and Corsica. The British government prefers to wait until it is convincingly shown that Il Duce is not fulfilling his promise to maintain the Mediterranean status quo.

Premier Mussolini is perfectly aware of Britain's standpoint, government officials here say.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Passing the West Side school and observing the windows, it is easy to learn that we are in the Christmas season. There are cut out figures on the windows, some representing "The wise men from the east," riding their camels, following The Star, and "While shepherds watched their flocks by night."

James B. Borland, of the Franklin News-Herald, who is known to many New Castle people, celebrated his 77th birthday on Wednesday of this week. He is still going strong, "jazz" as he is affectionately called by the people of Franklin, has endeared himself to the residents of his community by his portrayal of nature studies and love for his fellow man. For many years he has taken an easier job and conducts a column which is the delight of readers of the News-Herald.

Although this is National Potato Week, no particular observance of the event has been held in Lawrence county. Here every week is potato week, at least insofar as eating potatoes is concerned. While potatoes are one of the staple crops on Lawrence county farms, there are only a few farmers who raise spuds in a big way. All farmers raise enough for their own use, and many have small quantities to sell. Next to bread, potatoes are one of the principle articles of diet. With a little butter and milk added they meet practically all the requirements of the human system.

Many people are looking to the next legislature to do something about the heavy taxes which have been driving industry from the state. It is an uphill job trying to get new industries as long as the present taxes remain.

A North Hill man undertook to get his own breakfast, when his wife remained in bed with a severe cold, but he says that he made a mess.

To Offer Amendment To Forbid Any President Serving Over Six Years

By ARTHUR HACHTEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Entering the controversy over a third term for President Roosevelt, Senator Edward R. Burke, Nebraska Democrat, today served notice he will offer a constitutional amendment to forbid any president from serving more than one term of six years.

The amendment will be worded so as not to prevent President Roosevelt from completing his present, second term, should the proposition be ratified by three-fourths of the states before 1941, thus making it law.

Will Support Move Burke also announced he would support the movement in the Senate for adoption of a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that no president should be re-elected for a third term. Senator Holt (D) of West Virginia has indicated he would offer such a resolution.

CONFESS ROBBERY AT COLUMBIANA, O.

(International News Service)

LEBANON, O., Dec. 9.—Bank and liquor store robberies in three states were believed to have been solved today with the capture of two men who were to be charged with kidnapping state Patrolman Powell.

A wild chase followed when 125 officers after Powell was forced into his car by the men and two women companions when he noticed a submachine gun in their wrecked automobile resulted in the men being arrested on a bus.

Described By Men The women were apprehended as they walked along the highway. They said the men had deserted them.

They gave their names as David I. Cross, 29 Hamilton, Pa., Coy Russell, 28 Houston, Tex., Marie Day, 25 Greenup, Ky., and Naomi Hayes, 24 Steele, Mo.

Questioning of the men revealed, according to prosecutor O. Donald Dilatush, that they participated in a $7,000 robbery of a Columbiana, O., bank on December 31, 1936; robbery of a Sebring, O., bank in which

Anthony Eden Speaks Tonight

Former British Foreign Secretary To Arrive In U. S. Tonight

MANUFACTURERS TO BE ADDRESSED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, is expected to arrive in New York today for his address before the National Association of Manufacturers tonight.

Eden, who is expected to arrive in New York today, is slated to view a display of celery that probably will leave him gasping.

Because his boat, delayed by bad weather, is not due to dock until 8 p. m., Eden will be transferred to a revenue cutter at quarantine, whisked to the Battery and then will speed, behind a police escort, to the midtown hotel where more than 3000 of the nation's outstanding manufacturers will be dining. The former British official's speech will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio hook-up, beginning at 10:15 p. m. (EST.)

First Trip To U. S.

In coming to New York to speak on "Democracy and the Modern World," Eden is making his first trip to the United States. Nothing definite has been revealed on how long he will remain in America. The manufacturers prepared for tonight's dinner by adopting its annual "Program for American Progress" which carried an appeal for

HEAT WAVE IN S. CALIFORNIA

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Southern California residents actually sought relief from the heat today.

In 61 years it has not been so hot in Los Angeles in December as it was yesterday, when the mercury reached 92 in mid-afternoon.

At the same time, other cities throughout the southern area reported temperatures ranging from 82 to 91 for record December highs. As a result bathing beaches were crowded, and Christmas shoppers thronging metropolitan areas sweltered. Slightly cooler was the prediction for today.

Virginia Girl Relates Story Similar To That Of Washington Girl

HELD CAPTIVE IN AUTO SHE ASSERTS

(International News Service)

NEW MARKET, Va., Dec. 9.—Scheduled to become a bride during the Christmas holidays, Miss Margaret Bushong, 21, tossed in bed today, too weak and nervous to be questioned about the story she told police of being kidnaped and held prisoner 12 hours by two men in an automobile late Wednesday.

Weak and hysterical, Miss Bushong, daughter of an automobile salesman, staggered to a filling station near Harrisonburg yesterday, nervously recited meagre details of the alleged kidnapping and swooned. State police, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bushong, will question her during the day soon as she regains her composure.

The girl told the filling station attendant a story similar to that told by Miss Mary Brown, 18-year-old Oxon Hill, Md., schoolgirl, who claimed she was kidnaped and held prisoner 30 hours by two men in a black truck a week ago. To date the authorities have been unable to verify Miss Brown's story or find the Southern Maryland shack to which she claimed she was taken.

Forced Into Car Miss Bushong, whose fiancé is Roy Holsinger, said she was sitting in the family automobile in front of a Harrisonburg store 4 p. m. Wednesday when two men pulled up in a car and forced her to get into their machine.

Grand Jury Probe Can Be Started

Last Legal Barrier Is Removed By State Supreme Court Today

EXPECT STATE PROBE WILL START SOON

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Removal of the last legal barrier, the State Supreme Court today gave the Dauphin county grand jury the "go ahead" signal in its long delayed investigation of charges of vice and corruption brought against Governor George H. Earle and 13 Democratic cabinet members or party leaders.

In an unanimous order, the high tribunal this morning remanded forthwith to the middle district of Harrisburg the record of District Attorney Carl B. Shelley's successful motion to quash the appeal of Attorney General Guy K. Bard. The state prosecutor had sought to have the appellate justices overrule Judge Paul N. Schaeffer's decree denying his motion that Shelley was not qualified to conduct the probe.

The seven justices, in a per curiam decision on Wednesday, granted Shelley's motion to quash Bard's appeal because the attorney general, having been "disqualified by the lower court in his effort to supersede the district attorney, is not now an aggrieved party and has no standing to challenge Judge Schaeffer's order."

No Re-Arrest Likely Under the rules of court, the record of the case would have remained in the prothonotary's office in Philadelphia for a possible move by Bard to have the motion to quash re-argued. As there was no likelihood of a re-argument motion being made nor granting of it if it had been made, the supreme court saw no purpose in holding the record.

If the usual time limit had been allowed, the record would not have been returned to the Harrisburg office of the court until December 17 and the grand jury, therefore, could not have been summoned into session until that time. In view of today's decree, Judge Schaeffer, speaking today, said:

Two Years Tomorrow Since Duke Abducted

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Edward Duke of Windsor tomorrow will celebrate the second anniversary of his abdication of the throne of England. Two years ago today, he reached the decision to give up his crown rather than bow to the pressure being brought upon him to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, whom he married in June of the following year.

The second anniversary of his act of renunciation comes at a moment when there is renewed talk of Edward ending his self-imposed two-year exile by making a brief return to England, of a possible formal reconciliation between the Duke and the English royal family, and of the Duke achieving his cherished wish to have his Duchess officially recognized as "Her Royal Highness."

Whether or not Edward returns here next spring, or earlier is entirely up to him, according to a court official close to King George. No pressure is being brought on him "one way or the other," it was stated.

Family Relations Better But according to this authority, there is only the slightest possibility of a reconciliation between the Duke and the English royal family, and of the Duke achieving his cherished wish to have his Duchess officially recognized as "Her Royal Highness."

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—A whirlwind tour of household problems probably passed through the head of pretty Miss Dorothy James, 23-year-old daughter of Gov.-Elect Arthur H. James and Pennsylvania's "first lady-to-be," today as she realized the immensity of the task of being the state's official hostess.

Miss James, luncheon guest of Mrs. George H. Earle, wife of the retiring Democratic governor, admitted, however, that she wasn't scared—at least not much—of the big job ahead of her and said: "I'll just have to learn and depend on a lot of people for a while."

Utter Desolation And Death In Areas Struck By Typhoon

(International News Service)

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 9.—Relief expeditions pressing into remote districts today reported scenes of utter desolation and death in areas struck by a terrific Pacific typhoon yesterday.

The 75-mile-an-hour gale cut through 15 central provinces, passed 100 miles south of Manila and blew out into the China Seas. Incomplete estimates placed the number of deaths at 27 and damage at more than $1,000,000. Thousands were homeless. Heavily populated Samar Island was most severely hit. Twenty deaths were reported there. In six provinces communications systems were virtually wiped out, hampering relief efforts and preventing accurate reports of losses.

Mysterious Doings Around Home These Days As Early Christmas Shoppers Are Busy

There's a lot of secrecy around the average home this weather. Mother has a mysterious list with even more mysterious hieroglyphs on it; Dad's list is shorter but equally as mysterious and every other day some member of the family sneaks in the side entrance with a bundle under their coat.

Goos With Christmas Shopping It all goes in with Christmas shopping or had you remembered to get yours started. Here it is the ninth of December today and it doesn't take a mathematician to figure out how many shopping days there are before the big morning. Toys and clothes for the youngsters, tobacco or cigars for Uncle Ezekiel, a bottle of perfume for sister and a subscription to a magazine for mother. Uncles and aunts, nieces and nephews, cousins and friends and all of them requiring thought, time, and of course a spot of money.

Time To Speed Up If you haven't started yet it would be a swell idea to get going. Every day that goes by means that much less time to get it done and that much less of a selection. Do your Christmas shopping early. Well as early as you can considering that Christmas is moving up rapidly.

Plan For Rush At Post Office

Thirty-Two "Extras" Will Be Added For Peak Holiday Period

BIG CHRISTMAS IS ANTICIPATED

Postmaster Richard A. Steen and staff aides today completed plans for handling the annual Christmas holiday rush at the New Castle post office.

Anticipating a good Christmas season, officials announced that 32 extras would be added to the regular postal force in the peak holiday period.

Two additional trucks will augment the regular fleet of four in the rush period, they said. Customary preliminary preparations of the post office force for a Christmas season have been in progress for some time, but today Postmaster Steen and other department heads checked major details.

Will Close On 26th

The post office will observe Monday, December 26, as the Christmas holiday, and will be closed all day. Urging all patrons to "mail early" to make sure that gifts arrive before the holiday, the postmaster said: "Our force will do everything possible."

Italian Students Are Arrested After New Demonstration

Franco-Italian Territorial Dispute Cause Of New Outbreaks

ROME, Dec. 9.—Scores of Italian students were arrested today when new anti-French demonstrations broke out in Rome over the burning Franco-Italian territorial dispute.

The demonstrations were held in the Piazza Barberini. Police immediately dispersed the crowds, who proceeded to the Piazza Colonna, where the Italian foreign office is situated. There they cheered for Premier Mussolini and his son-in-law, Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, shouting: "We want Tunisia, Nice and Corsica."

Students and other demonstrators were taken into custody by the police for disobeying orders to break up the manifestations, and for fighting officials.

TUNIS, Dec. 9.—More than 50 persons were reported under arrest in Tunis today after French police and army troops engaged in skirmishes to subdue rival demonstrations of French and Italian residents.

Scores of fights broke out between Italians and Frenchmen as this capital of the French Tunisian protectorate resounded to wild demonstrations for and against Italian territorial demands.

Many persons were injured in the riots. The arrested demonstrators included Fascist leaders as well as French manifestants. Police and troop reinforcements from France streamed into the city, which has 210,000 European inhabitants, while French army divisions were reported moving toward the "little Maginot line" facing Italian Libya.

Italy Claims France Failed To Keep Agreement About Ethiopia

ROME, Dec. 9.—Italy will accept a solution of the current French-Italian crisis only on the basis of territorial compensation, it was indicated today by Premier Mussolini's spokesman.

Revise Agreements Il Duce has made himself the champion of a movement which aims at revision of existing Italo-French agreements, wrote Virginio Gayda, who usually speaks for Mussolini, in the Giornale D'Italia.

"The currents of Italy's living interests point to Tunis, Suez, and Djibouti," Gayda said, insisting that all French and Italian questions must be reopened.

His article appeared as scores of Italian students were arrested in new anti-French demonstrations in Rome over the revived Italian call for return of former Italian territories now held by France.

Tunis, Italy claims, is historically and racially Italian. The Suez Canal is important to Italy because it is the gateway to Ethiopia and Somaliland. Djibouti, in French Somaliland, is the sea terminus of the Adis Ababa railway. Gayda made no mention of Italian demands for Corsica, Nice, and Savoy.

France Failed To Keep Pledge

The Italo-French accord of 1935, arranged by Pierre Laval when he was premier, are considered by Italy as non-existent, said Gayda, because France failed to keep her pledge giving Italy a free hand in Ethiopia. "Everything that was created by the 1935 treaty has been annulled through France's initiative," the editor wrote. "Everything must be done over again."

Large Sum Spent On Campaign

State Reports Are Now On File

About $1,353,182 In Political Pot In Recent Election
In Pennsylvania

BOTH PARTIES SPENT LARGE ELECTION FUND

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—Pikers take notice! Just in case you were planning on entering politics in Pennsylvania, it might pay you to glance at the expense accounts of the Republican and Democratic State committees, on file today at the State Elections Bureau.

One hasty glance would show you that the Republicans dug into their political "gold mine" for some $716-649.82, while the Democrats spent $636,532.22 in their unsuccessful effort to maintain control of the state administration.

Pot Of $1,353,182
All told, between the two major parties, a pot of $1,353,182.12 was filled with political contributions.

Republican listed receipts of $716,649.82; Democrats, $636,532.22.
Republican borrowings included:
$100,000 from the Philadelphia National bank; $25,000 from the Farmers' Deposit National bank, Pittsburgh; $30,000 from Joseph N. Pew, Philadelphia oil executive; $5,000 from State Chairman James E. Torrance.

Democratic creditors included:
$25,000 from Sen. Joseph P. Guffy and $20,000 from the United Mine Workers of America.

Listing no big individual contributors, the Democrats reported receiving $103,000 from picnics, including the campaign opener at Hershey; a gross of $269,190 from the famous $100 per plate dinner; $152,000 of which went to the Phila-of $5,000 each came from A. Atwater Kent, Walter C. Jew, Miss Helen Clay

Frick, J. Howard Pew, Mary Ethel Pew, Mrs. Mable Pew Myrion and Eugene Houdry.

Republican campaign were Lamont

ity at the present time of King George revoking the old order in council, which laid it down that the Duke when he acquired his dukedom, could not be taken by his wife or by any children of the marriage.

Undisputed is the fact, however, that relations between the Duke and his family are better today than they have been at any time since the abdication.

The court authority, who spoke to the writer more frankly than is usual in such matters, insisted that the recent visit of the Duke of Gloucester to his brother in Paris fully confirmed that the ex-king bears no ill-will toward King George, his successor. The Duke spoke affectionately of his relatives, declared he was anxious to see them again, and insisted that the matter of his wife's rank could easily be amicably settled.

Not To Return Permanently
The informant declared, however, that it was the view of the court that Edward would not make a permanent return to his homeland for various reasons, but would prefer to make frequent visits here, making his permanent home in France.

Edward's former bitterness against most things English has been con-has made many lasting friendships

a good many of his old friendships lonely man that he so often is pictured to be.

for such purposes, but Miss James apparently was perfectly satisfied with the set-up as Mrs. Earle has had it.

"Mrs. Earle has done such a nice job," she commented. "I'm sure I couldn't improve on it."

The retiring first lady, regarded as one of the most charming of Pennsylvania's hostesses, admitted, though, that there were "one or two things that needed taking care of."

The dining room radiators, she said, have a habit of knocking gate a collision in which the quarter's car was wrecked. Joe Sheldon, Grosvonts, was a passing motorist, had stopped to assist Powell in transferring luggage to the patrol car.

Forced Into Car
Seeing that Powell had discovered the machine gun, the quartet forced the patrolman into his car at gunpoint. One of the men took Sheldon's car and the two machines sped away, leaving Sheldon standing in the road.

Powell said he was handcuffed, bound with a piece of rope and gagged. He managed to free himself with a spare handcuff key when he was thrown from the automobile which was found abandoned.

Road Blocked
The patrolman hailed a motorist who drove him to a telephone where he notified his superiors. Col. Lynn Black, head of the Ohio patrol ordered a blockade at the Indiana-Ohio state line.

Although Cross and Russell were heavily armed they surrendered on the bus which officers surrounded at Washington courthouse.

Additional charges of carrying concealed weapons, armed robbery and auto larceny were to be lodged against the men, Black said. The women will be charged with being accessories to the kidnapping and auto larceny.

Gross admitted, according to Colonel Black, of participating in a tavern holdup near Grove City, Pa., in which Patrolman Harry Cooper was wounded. He was aided, Black quoted the prisoner as saying, by his brother, Paul, who was killed somewhere in the West.

considered as a unit, and clarified and defined Italy's problems regarding France must be considered open and unsolved."

Gayda derided France's misunderstanding of Italian policy simply because Mussolini has made himself the champion of the movement for treaty revision for the purpose of bringing about a "true peace in Europe."

SHARP WARNING ISSUED BY HULL

in agreement that any menace to that peace is a matter of concern to us all.

"We shall seek to implement and make more effective the measures already adopted to that end."

To Seek Action
In effect Hull thus served notice that determined effort will be made to obtain action on President Roosevelt's suggestion of a Western Hemisphere continental defense system.

In this connection, it was understood on reliable authority that several Central American republics are strongly inclined to sign bilateral treaties with the United States for defense.

Central American delegates were believed to have reached an agreement "in principle" on this matter when they conferred with Hull last night.

Program Laid Down
The American secretary of state laid down this program for the conference:

1—An effort to obtain international peace and "as a corollary the preservation of our American institutions and of our system of international relations based upon the peaceful settlement of all international disputes."

2—Economic collaboration "for the welfare of all the American peoples."

3—Fortification of international law.

He also urged economic "disarm-ment" in the light of President Roosevelt's "good neighbor policy and the American reciprocal trade system."

Obviously referring to developments in Europe and the Far East,
he added:
"The contribution which the American republics may be able to make toward strengthening international law will be a constructive factor in the world situation."

TO OFFER MEASURE TO FORBID PRESIDENT SERVING OVER 6 YEARS

President Coolidge running for what some called a third term and others a second term, he having succeeded to the presidency upon the death of President Harding, Senator Bob Lafollette (R) of Wisconsin, succeeded in having the senate adopt a resolution frowning upon the third term suggestion.

By a vote of 56 to 26, the Senate on February 8, 1938, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved that it is the sense of the Senate that the precedent established by Washington and other Presidents of the United States in retiring from the presidential office after their second term has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our Republican system of government, and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

Some Still In Senate
Among the present members of the Senate who voted for that resolution were Senators Ashurst and Hayden, Arizona; Barker, Kentucky; Gerry, Rhode Island; Glass, Virginia; Harrison, Mississippi;
King, Utah; McKellar, Tennessee;
Neely, West Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Sheppard, Texas; Tydings, Maryland; Wagner, New York and Wheeler, Montana all Democrats.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho voted
"aye" as did Senators Norris of Nebraska, and La Follette, who in 1928 were listed as Republicans.
Many Republicans voted against the resolution, including Senator Mc-Carthy of Oregon, Senator Walsh, (D) of Massachusetts. Coolidge's home state voted "no."

TELLS POLICE SHE WAS KIDNAPED

she said. "I fainted. When I regained consciousness I was in the car with the two men on a dark country road."

There, Miss Bushong said, one of the men said "We have the wrong girl."

"The other said," the girl continued, "we'd better throw her in the creek."

"They drove around for hours.
It was beginning to get daylight when they stopped and pushed me out of the car and drove away. I fell down a bank and into the water of a creek but it wasn't deep. I walked around for hours. I didn't know where I was. Finally I came to the road and found the filling station."

The girl had gone to Harrisonburg with her mother to buy things for her trousseau. The filling station attendant said her clothes were wet and disheveled and that her face and arms were bruised.

Investigators said Miss Bushong was unable to describe the two men.

at the Aquina airbase near Tunis.
Authorities said the squadron may return to Istres, near Marseilles, next week, perhaps on Tuesday, if circumstances permit.

Daily Mail said 14 French bombing planes circles over the city as a warning to rioters that the French government is determined to prevent all disorders.)

Two thousand mounted police and troops patrolled the streets of Tunis, dispersing crowds and keeping Ital-over Italy's demand for annexation

Hunt For Man Who Got Rugs

City detectives today are trying to locate a man who yesterday allegedly secured two rugs worth approximately $100 from the business place of Samuel J. Rashid, 101 North Mercer street, through a trick.

He "bought" the rugs from a clerk, then said that, inasmuch as he previously had bought a $200 rug from Rashid, he believed he could get a discount if he waited to see and pay him instead of giving a check for the rugs immediately.

The man left the store with the rugs and has not yet been located.

ement sources said. This was made clear in the talk the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Italy, had with Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, after the anti-French demonstrations in the Italian Chamber of Deputies last week.

Tension Increases
Paris, Dec. 9.—Debate in the French Chamber of Deputies on France's grave foreign and domestic problems was renewed today, as evidenced by the news of Italian troop concentrations less than 50 miles south of the Pyrenees frontier.

But despite the effects of the Franco-German "no war" pact, the situation over Italian demands for Tunisia and other French areas rapidly approached the state of an international crisis and threatened to overshadow all other questions before the parliament.

Anxiety over this situation was expressed by reports that 20,000 Italian troops serving with the Spanish insurgents were massed in Logrono province, below the Pyrenees border for a new assault against Spanish government forces.
The new Catalan offensive was expected to start after this week-end.

LARGE SUM WELL SPENT FOR TOYS

WHILE Santa Claus is sweating away at the North Pole with last minute preparations for what may be his busiest Christmas in many years it is well to consider how the hearty old fellow has kept ahead of the procession of new ideas and new methods of toy making.

Probably the best quarter of a billion dollars spent in any country is that $250,000,000 spent annually for toys in the U. S. It is a staggering sum, spent for the highest possible good—the giving of hours of happiness to others.

It is spent most judiciously by the mothers and fathers of the nation. Toys must be rugged, else they earn the contempt of Junior and his sister. They must be colorful, easy to clean and enduring. An old toy that has weathered the tempests of childhood is treasured more than a new and more attractive one. These desirable qualities have kept Santa humping for new ideas. He has also kept in mind that toys must be smooth-edged to prevent possibility of injury to their youthful owners. For these mechanical improvements, father and mother join the youngsters in a great big hand for the old fellow and a promise of a long rest for him—after Christmas.

JUSTICE UNDER LAW

From Edwin S. Smith, member of the National Labor Relations Board, comes the rather amazing comment that the regular courts of the country "may not be temperamentally inclined to give a sympathetic understanding to labor's problems and may be overprecise and too insistent on concrete proof."

Since when has temperamental inclination been a desirable judicial trait? And since when has definite insistence on evidential data been unnecessary and unwarranted in connection with the processes of litigation?

America will have reached a sorry state of affairs when its institutions of justice cease to be characterized by even-handed adjudication in accordance with the disinterested dictates of factual proof.

CONCERNING REFORM AND REALISM

"It is only the unthinking conservatives who rejoice when a social or economic reform fails to be 100 per cent successful," said President Roosevelt in his Chapel Hill address.

But how about the liberals who keep defending such reforms after they have failed, who keep demanding, in fact, further moves of an equally futile nature?

In view of the fact that no human being is omniscient, both liberals and conservatives should treat reform from the experimental standpoint, discarding inadequate programs as soon as their folly has been demonstrated.

Reform, moreover, should not outrun practical possibilities. The thinking man is the one whose feet remain on the ground even while his eyes are turned toward the stars.

FOOTBALL FOR A DIME

Ten cents admission to a football game is the proposal of Robert Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, for removing over-emphasis and its attendant evils from college football.

Removal or reduction of the amount of money available to college sports departments would do much to clean up the game, Hutchins feels. He was the boy wonder of college presidents a few years ago. As the head of the great and richly endowed University of Chicago, he can launch there an experiment in sociology and advanced pigskin ethics that the world will watch with interest.

Thousands of football fans in the middle west will be glad to co-operate in his purge of the wicked dollar from the game. Meanwhile Dr. Hutchins' premise that people go to college to improve their minds can wait. That will be taken up by the quarterbacks' club right after the first 10-cent football game.

THE OTHER SIDE TO "EASY MONEY"

Heavy over-subscription for the treasury's latest offer of bonds and notes, aggregating $700,000,000, at the usual low interest rates, again affords Secretary Morgenthau opportunity for self-congratulation. Taxpayers, glancing at the record-breaking increase in the national debt, may not share his rejoicing.

In a few months more this burden will amount to forty billion dollars, having doubled since the advent of the New Deal. The World War debt at its peak was a little over 26 billions. During the Republican ten-year "economy era" it was cut by ten billions. The interest charge this year will be about a billion dollars, or almost as much as the principal of the debt in 1916.

The hint that these latest government securities may be the last to carry the tax exemption feature may have stimulated buying, but the chief factor is undoubtedly the continued reluctance of institutional investors to put their money in private enterprises so long as the administration maintains its deterrent attitude toward expansion of industry.

As for the administration's satisfaction over its ability to borrow at the lowest rates of interest in American history, its complacency is not shared by business in general so much in need of capital. An article in the Harvard Business Monthly points out the stifling effect of high taxes, combined with new accounting and registration fees exacted by the SEC and other agencies. The cost of raising $100,000 was figured at $30,000. The government gets its money at rates that may be termed cut-throat when their effect on private business is considered.

The government's "easy money" policy is far from easy on the taxpayers who have to pay its bills and whose sole income is from their businesses or salaries. It is also a powerful temptation to keep on borrowing regardless of the day of reckoning for its extravagance.

Practice makes perfect. As your income grows, you try to live up to it; and soon you're a year ahead of it.

Nothing changes. It was Queen Elizabeth who wrote: "Laws resemble cobwebs, whence great bees get out by breaking, and small flies stick fast for weakness."

A Swedish gland expert thinks he can give little children the strength of grown men. It will make the struggle for a place at the toy counter much easier.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SHOP WITHOUT CHILD

"Shopping early" means more to the mother of young children than to other mothers. Many a mother will spend weary hours and days at shopping with a babe in arms or a tot at her side. And what of the little child? How can the toddler be good-natured for long? He gets so tired walking, standing, waiting. Everything is so high and out of sight and reach. People crowd him in the elevators, aisles and stairways. He can hardly see anything, hardly breathe. His mother is all worn out trying to hold him, carry him or drag him along. He vexes her. She vexes him. Poor kid! Poor mother!

I wish young children could be left at home. Perhaps a neighbor will be so kind as to keep the little child while the mother shops. Nearly every day dad will have some time off when he could keep the child, certainly on Saturday afternoon. There's no better place for the child to contract colds and diseases than in a crowd.

As a rule you will not select gifts for your runabout child in his presence. But it might be well to go with him to visit leisurely the toy departments of several stores, for his pleasure and your information about his interests, making no purchases then. See that he does not handle toys roughly and, except when invited by the clerk, that he keep his hands off things in the store. It is difficult to do so, but valuable moral training.

Appeal To Him
Be not misled by his apparent special interests. Mechanical toys will allure him most. Such toys are of little value unless he will invent, using simpler toys in connection with them. Keep asking yourself, "How long will this appeal to him?" The child old enough to use money will get moral value from choosing a few toys for others. It's fine if he has saved for months or has earned money for this purpose.

Thanks to many teachers, young children often make gifts at school for their parents. However crude these gifts let us learn to feel and express appreciation for them. What heartaches the little child has when we lack sympathy, understanding and gratitude for such tender level

The American public spent more than five billion dollars on Christmas gifts last December, according to statistics. And Santa Claus gets all the credit.

A medical examination had disclosed the fact that Sam Johnson had a floating kidney and he was quite worried over it. Meeting the pastor of the African Baptist church on the street, he asked for help.

"I've come prayers for a floating kidney," inquired the good pastor. "All mah congregation would bust right out laughin'."

EXPLAINING
Some time ago there was a city employee who was noted for the verbiage of his reports. The manager finally called him in and told him he would have to make the reports briefer and to the point.

Shortly afterward there was a heavy rain, and the employee was sent out to report on the damage. He sent in this message: "Where street was gully and creek now are."

Said a woman with a triple chin, just look at the fix I'm in. I tremble and shake like a young earthquake; I will bear it, but darned if I'll grin."

"I went to bed at 7 o'clock last night" said a girl who had had too many nights of social whirl during the holidays.

"I have a picture of you going to bed at seven o'clock" spoke up a young man in the group.

"Well, don't show it to anyone" warned the girl.

And now Arthur Guiterman says, To the cautious, collapsible cow Gives milk by the sweat of her brow.

Then under the trees She folds her front knees And sinks for the ayt with a bow.

Dear Miss Market—Please answer the following questions: (1) When passing in front of a person, which should I say, EXCUSE ME, or PARDON ME? (2) Should a young person answer an older person with "yes, sir" and "yes, ma'am"? (3) Is a biscuit broken or not?

Answer: (1) Either "excuse me" or "I beg your pardon." (2) "Yes" and "no" followed by the person's name. Boys say "sir"; girls do not. "Ma'am" is now obsolete in answering your equals, except in the Southern United States. (3) Broken.

Neutrality Law Is Inadequate Operates Only In Declared Wars
Intention Of Framer Is Ignored

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—When Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota evolved our present neutrality law his intention was to give the president no discretion in the matter of keeping the United States out of foreign conflicts. Two or more overseas nations having gone to war, the White House tenor is supposed to embargo American shipments of military supplies to both or all of the belligerents. The act hasn't proved a bit effective. Everyone knows that Italy waged war against Abyssinia, that war is raging in Spain and that Japan and China are at war bloodthirstily. But none of these wars was formally declared. Theoretically they were not and are not wars.

President Roosevelt could have declared them wars, in fact, and slapped embargoes on, but he hasn't seen fit to do so. Technically perhaps he's been right about it. The Nye law doesn't exactly apply to the Spanish muss, either. Even if it's a war, it doesn't class as international; it's a civil struggle nominally. The truth is that Italy and Germany have a hand in it; Russia, to a certain extent also. To a degree, France and Britain doubtless are participants. Indeed, the number of Americans in the fighting lines ran into the thousands. But it's a civil affair, according to diplomatic interpretation. The Nye law doesn't require the president to neutralize Uncle Sam in such cases.

What About China?
As for the Jap-Chinese war, it's a war all right. However, American public opinion is altogether on China's side. We wouldn't like to see the Chinese embargoed. If the Chinese can get our military supplies, to fight the Japanese with, we want to see the Chinese get 'em. They probably don't get many. Japan has them bottled up too tightly. Nevertheless, it wouldn't be popular for the White House to shut them off altogether. And the president hasn't any choice. If he recognizes a war and embargoes Japan, he must embargo China likewise.

The congressional folks who propose amendment of the Nye law urge that the White House be empowered to make a selection between belligerents—to say that one side's right and that the other side is wrong—to remain neutral but to embargo the supposedly wrong side, while continuing the flow of American supplies to the supposedly right side.

Now, this might be neutrality from the Yankee standpoint, but it is likely that the side which the president decided against would think so. Echo answers skeptically. Opponents of the amendment program maintain that the scheme would give the president entirely too much authority, anyway. He can't declare war today. Congress has to do it, it's done that way. To be sure, he can maneuver the country so closely up to a war that congress hardly will be able to get out of declaring it. Still, this thing is a step farther.

Proponents of amendment suggest a few changes in the law that aren't so essential.

Question of Terms
For example, the present law calls for an embargo on "ammunition." Ammunition is concrete stuff—explosives. The word modifiers of the law would substitute the much broader term, "munitions," meaning all kinds of junk that perhaps could be used for lethal purposes.

I think maybe the modifiers will succeed in substituting the term "munitions" for "ammunition."

I don't believe the president will be authorized to choose between belligerents. The latter would give him, in effect, the right to pick between warring powers.

Then we'd be yanked into their rumpties.

That's hard enough to keep out of anyhow.

Bible Thought For Today

He that reproacheth a scorner getteth to himself shame; and he that rebuketh a wicked man getteth himself a blot. Reprove not a scorner; lest he hate thee: rebuke a wise man and he will love thee.—Proverbs 9 7-8.

Hints On Etiquette

At an informal party, a newcomer may be introduced to a small group of people. Instead of each person separately. The correct form would be: "Mr. Jones—Mr. Roberts, Mr. Francis, Mr. Browning." If the group is composed of both men and women, it is better to introduce each separately.

The loss of Will Rogers still pains us—especially when we hear somebody straining to be funny and talking like a stage rubber to imitate him.

What became of the old-fashioned workman who did a fine job at a fair price because he was proud of his skill and speed?

When the Japs tell what they are going to do with China, it seems to bluff everybody except the Chinese.

The Great Game Of Politics

"Let Her Go, Gallagher"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.
A NEW, incredibly soggy economic theory, but very comforting—if they can make it stick—to a crowd in a tough spot, has been evolved by the New Deal fiscal authorities to account for the appalling state of the Federal finances and their flat failure to bring them under control—or even to make the attempt.

A GOOD name for it would be the "self-balancing budget plan" or so to make both ends meet by spreading them farther apart. Or it could be called the "Let Her Go, Gallagher" plan. It has been thoroughly sold to the President and is loudly mouthed by all the administration economists and financial experts except the unfortunate Mr. Morgenthau, who can't quite grasp the principle of the thing, and the hard-headed Mr. Jesse Jones, who, in his strange Texas way, still believes that two and two make four. The chief sponsor of the new plan is Mr. Mariner Eccles, head of the Federal Reserve Board and generally regarded as one of the several wisest of the spending school who would like to supplant the present Secretary of the Treasury—but not.

THE idea has been adopted as their own by the little group of pinks who are in the saddle at the White House and who have had so astonishingly much to do with running the country in the last five years. The scheme is simplicity itself. The essence of it is to talk big and let things slide. All that is needed is to increase the national income from the $55,000,000,000 it now is to about $58,000,000,000. As soon as that is done the budget will become automatically balanced through the increased receipts from taxes and a restored prosperity. That is all there is to it. Caution is given that if, of course, would be a mistake to cut down expenses or curtail in any way. And a further admonition is added against additional taxation, which, it is explained might have a tendency to slow things down. Economy is banned on the ground that efforts to economize brought on the present depression and only spending can effect the cure. A continuance of "well-timed Federal expenditures" is the sole dose prescribed.

ACTUALLY this extraordinary suggestion seems destined to become the settled fiscal policy of the administration. Certainly it has no other and no one thinks now that the President in his financial message next month will again repeat the sound recommendations he has made on this subject at the opening of every session of Congress. In view of what has consistently followed these recommendations a repetition would border on the absurd and the "automatic budget balance through increased national income" thesis is a lovely alibi for everything. It sounds impressive. It isn't necessary to prove it and it fits in with the whole Administration record, though of course, clashing violently with the 1932 platform and Mr. Roosevelt's solemn utterances in that campaign on the necessity of economy. However, those were repudiated so long ago, that they have almost been forgotten.

IT IS easy to see why the Eccles automatic budget balance scheme is enthusiastically embraced by the New Deal outfit journalistic as well as political. It enables them to push aside the stupendous debt which has been piled up and the deficits which grow deeper and more menacing every year, as matters about which they have no need to worry. It is a plausible answer to those who insist upon the vital need of economy and of a real effort to live within our income. And it furnishes the excuse for further spending along pump-priming lines. What it means is that in the coming session, so far as the Administration is concerned, there will be no effort either to balance the budget, cut down expenses or increase revenue. To every attack on the deplorable condition of the nation's finances, the answer will be that every problem will be automatically solved as soon as the national income is increased by twenty three billions. That the advocates of this financial policy have not even a nebulous notion of how to increase the national income except by "well-timed Federal expenditures"—a method that already has disastrously failed—is a point to which it is considered unbecomingly to refer. If somehow the American people are not aroused to the fact that this latest New Deal policy is a clear abandonment of every effort to check our progress towards crude inflation and a major economic catastrophe, then there isn't a great deal of hope for us. If Congress falls for this "Let Her Go, Gallagher" policy, it will indeed, have failed the country.

Into a Wabash, Ind., mail slot slid a long envelope recently, addressed to Mr. Kananahonokuhomocupukakumalaphilohinokawewulam-akaokalani Judd, Honolulu. The sender a Wabash family, learned know Mr. Judd on a visit to Haw several years ago. They always call him just "Mr. Judd."

Former Envoy Faces Charge

Accused In Warrant Of Being Hit And Run Driver
In Virginia

DIDN'T KNOW CHILD WAS HIT HE SAYS

(International News Service)

HANOVER COURT HOUSE, Va., Dec. 8.—Accused in a warrant of being a hit-and-run driver, William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany, was under $2,000 bond today pending a preliminary hearing December 16.

On information furnished by witnesses, State Policeman Carlisle Johnstone accused the former diplomat of being the driver of an automobile which struck four-year-old Gloria Grimes, Negro, Monday and failed to stop.

Dodd told reporters at his Round Hill estate that he did not know his machine struck the child. When he learned about it, he said, he reported the matter to the state motor vehicle authorities and gave the girl's family financial assistance.

He said he was traveling about 45 miles an hour, the legal speed limit, when the girl ran out into the road 30 feet in front of him. He said he jammed the brakes and swerved to the other side of the road and thought he had missed her.

The girl was reported to be in a serious condition at a Richmond hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and bruises.

Glenda Farrell Takes Office As North Hollywood Mayor

By MILTON HARKER
(Copyright, 1938)
(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—Wise-cracking Glenda Farrell took office Thursday as North Hollywood's first mayor with one very womanly pledge to herself. She's going to officially devote herself to as much relaxation as possible to regain the six pounds she's lost from a very early figure during the past three months.

Glenda is down to 109 pounds and she's anxious to return to her usual 115, her best weight for signing proclamations, pronouncements and other official communications.

It was a deep dark secret during her race for office, because you don't usually associate indigestion with glamour girls, but Glenda has been under treatment by specialists for a nervous reaction which causes her to get a tummyache whenever she gets excited. And Glenda got very excited while she was running for head man of North Hollywood's 32,000 citizens, including Bing Crosby, Lewis Stone, Dick Arlen, Edward Everett Horton and other notables of the cinema colony.

Glenda got excited to the extent of losing those six pounds and even when she was in New York recently she was paying daily visits to her medicos.

And now that victory is hers and she wears a theoretical toga Glenda wants to get her appetite to a point where she can enjoy something more substantial than carrots and peas. She also wants to feel better for her work in "Torchy For Mayor," the picture in which Warner Brothers is capitalizing on her victory.

Glenda was cheered to the rafters last night when 1,322 citizens, a capacity crowd, gathered for her official induction. Like the others, Glenda paid $1.65 to get into her own party because the money was going to one of the town charities.

Glenda gave a two-minute speech which this reporter had watched her write as she chewed pencils contrary to her diet. She hoped she'd be of help, was the substance of it all.

As she wrote diligently and frowned, this reporter wanted to know what she was going to do about gambling or anything like that which might be found in her precincts.

Glenda immediately reverted to the character of Torchy Blane, as newshound of the screen, and replied: "Say, you, we got a nice clean joint!"

The test of an administration is the number of its schemes that are working well without the support of public money.

FALCON RESERVES WIN OVER ORIOLES

Paced by J. Wenda and H. Anton, the Polish Falcon Reserves won a 31-25 victory over the strong Orioles Thursday night on the Falcon hall. J. Wenda found the nets for seven field goals. P. Zingaro and Brown were the best bets for the losers.

SEMPER FIDELIS NAMES OFFICERS

Thursday evening, Semper Fidelis club associates assembled in the home of Mrs. Frank Fazzone, 2010 Delaware avenue, for their outstanding business meeting of the year. Much was accomplished in addition to their annual election of officers, as plans for future events were also completed.

Officers elected are as follows: president, Mrs. Carl R. Tranquillo; vice-president, Mrs. Carmi Sacco; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. James Chero; social chairman, Mrs. Frank Fazzone; publicity, Mrs. Tranquillo. On December 22 their Yuletide party will be held at a prominent downtown tea room, with Mrs. Frank Cclao hostess in charge. An exchange of gifts will take place on this date, at which time "secret buddies" will be revealed.

Plans were rounded out for another occasion, their annual dinner party, with husbands as guests of honor, on January 9. This will also mark the ninth birthday anniversary of the club.

Special arrangements have been made for a charity project when the club will aid a needy family of this locality during the Christmas holiday period.

Cards opened the social period, with Mrs. H. A. Fazzone capturing the brisco trophy, Mrs. Frank Cclao the 500 and Mrs. Carl R. Tranquillo the club token.

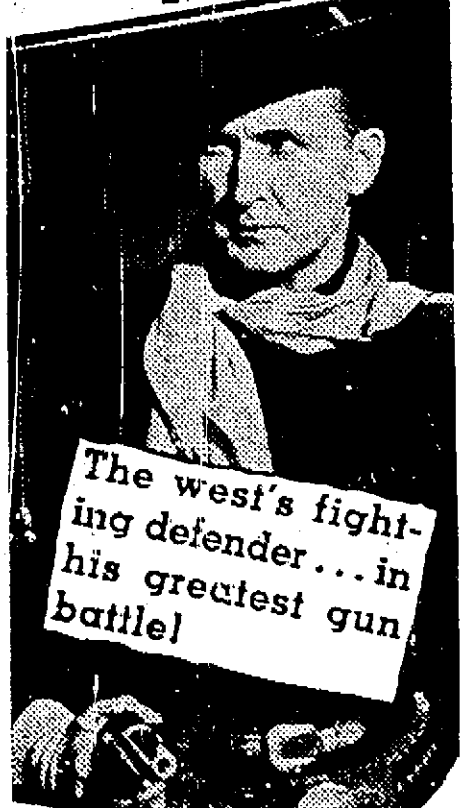

A delicious lunch was served in conclusion, with Yuletide appointments predominating.

Journey's End Well Presented

Civic Theatre Guild Players
Do Excellent Work On Thursday NightTO REPEAT PLAY
AGAIN TONIGHT

It's one thing for a group of non-professional players to amble through the pleasures of a little comedy like "Charlie's Aunt." It's altogether another thing for a group of non-professionals to take hold of a serious drama, place it in a setting that is almost frighteningly realistic and then project it out across the footlights like the New Castle Civic Theatre Guild players did with "Journey's End" Thursday night in the George Washington junior-senior high school auditorium.

Tonight the play will be repeated at the Washington auditorium at 8:30.

"Journey's End" is one of the few dramas that came out of the World War that has any right to live longer than a year. Most of them either had lines that belonged to a musical comedy, or else manfully painted the horrors of war. "Journey's End" belongs in neither class. It is a grim sort of document and tells vividly and strikingly the story of a group of decent young English officers who are engaged in the messy business of war in the front line trenches. It is almost too grim for entertainment, and but for the saving grace of the comedy-relief role that of the officers' cook, one might feel that it is too starkly realistic.

Magnificently Produced

There have been other ventures of the Civic Theatre players, most of them done with serious intentions, but none of them approaches the excellency of "Journey's End." Nor is this entirely because of the trenchant pen of the author, R. C. Sherriff. A great deal of it is because the play was intelligently directed, realistically staged and magnificently presented by the players themselves.

The casting was as nearly perfect as one could possibly expect from the ranks of those who use the stage for an avocation. All of the action takes place in a dugout up at the front. That dugout for two hours and a half Thursday night was just that, and out beyond it one could hear the constant overtones of booming guns, flashes of star shells, and the horrible whine of the "ashcans" as they screamed their message of hate and destruction.

The sound and light effects were so realistic that you got the idea that you were witnessing a section of the front line through long range field glasses. And giving life and color and realism to the effects was that cast of players, every one of them draining his part of the last measure of dramatic effort.

Captain Stanhope

One role, the lead, that of Captain Stanhope, dominates the play throughout, and in the hands of Robert Aiken it did what it is intended to do. Stanhope is a young Englishman who has had three years of war, is just a little afraid of the whole mess, but goes through with his work, at the same time bolstering his courage with too much hard liquor. His sweetheart's brother, Lieutenant Raleigh, is assigned to Stanhope's company and in the last two acts Stanhope hides a gripping fear of disaster to Raleigh behind a hardboiled front.

Aiken was on top of his lines all the way through. He was Captain Stanhope to the life, and our own reaction to his work was that there was the finest bit of acting done by a non-professional in New Castle in a long, long time.

Three officers, Osborne, Trotter and Hibbert, are foils for Stanhope throughout, and the excellency of their work accentuated the fine work of Aiken. Raleigh was taken by James Smith, and his portrayal of a youngster fresh from school left little to be desired. James Bowman had the role of the colonel, Frank Dorsey that of the sergeant-major, Tom Cunningham that of a company commander relieved by Stanhope's company early in the play; David Long that of a young German soldier, and William Boston, Charles Randall and Robert Turner the part of private soldiers. Some of their parts were incidental, but all of them were well done.

We've saved an extra paragraph for Harry Cullford, who had the role of the officers' cook, Mason. His was the one part of comedy-relief, a cockney lad who has charge of the officers' mess and broke the grimness of the story with his really humorous performance. The accent comes easy to Cullford, for he hails from Essex originally. The manner in which he played his part was strictly his own, and for a laugh we recommend his work Thursday night.

Intelligently Done

To sum up the work of the entire cast, it was an intelligent piece of business. None of the overplaying so common to amateurs, no playing for effect, nothing but sincere, capable delineation—and if you miss seeing it tonight you will have missed what will stand out for some time as a mark for other casts to shoot at.

Back of the scenes was another group that deserves a lot of credit—the technicians, the business heads and the property folks. Their purpose in a play is to "blush unseen," but they, too, deserve the same commendation that the players got.

It is a refreshing thing to have in a city a group of young people who love the drama for its own sake. For them the only compensation is the satisfaction of a job well done, and after Thursday night's fine performance they should feel amply repaid.

Lastly, a word for the director, James Green. His was no ordinary job of directing. The measure of his success was in the quality of the performance, and after everything has been said of the players, a lot of it goes back to the gentleman who guided the play through to such a successful presentation.

The names of those who had a part, but not before the footlights, follow:

Stage manager, A. F. Southwick. Assistant manager, C. E. Randall. Prompter, David S. Long. Art director, Mary McBride. Set construction, Ed. Fortney. Joe Wallace, Fred McWilliams. Properties, Mrs. Arthur Borland. Mrs. John Walter. Miss Margaret Toepfer. Miss Catherine Cunningham. Mrs. Ralph Hamilton. Electrician, Ed. Norris. Assistants, Charles McGrath and Rudolf Schunk. Ushers, Miss Kathryn Boston, Miss Charlotte Bartlett, Miss Dorothy Stadelhofer, Miss Betty Mackey, Mrs. James R. Green.

Policeman Saves Life Of Man By Seat Of Pants

Slightly Undignified, But Howard Williams Of Uniontown Owes Life To Officer(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 9.—It may have been a slightly undignified performance, but none the less Howard Williams today owed his life to the quick action of policeman Organdie Shaw.

Williams, downcast by the desertion of his wife, whom he alleges took all his money and his baby daughter, attempted to commit suicide by jumping from a hotel window.

He kicked out a window about 25 feet above the sidewalk and was preparing for the death leap, when the patrolman slipped up behind him and made a grab to stave off the jump. His hands caught Williams' belt and it broke, making another grab. Shaw caught Williams by the seat of the pants.

There was a rip, but Williams fell inside instead of outside. Behind the bars, Williams said:

"Any one would do the same thing if his wife ran off with his baby and all your money."

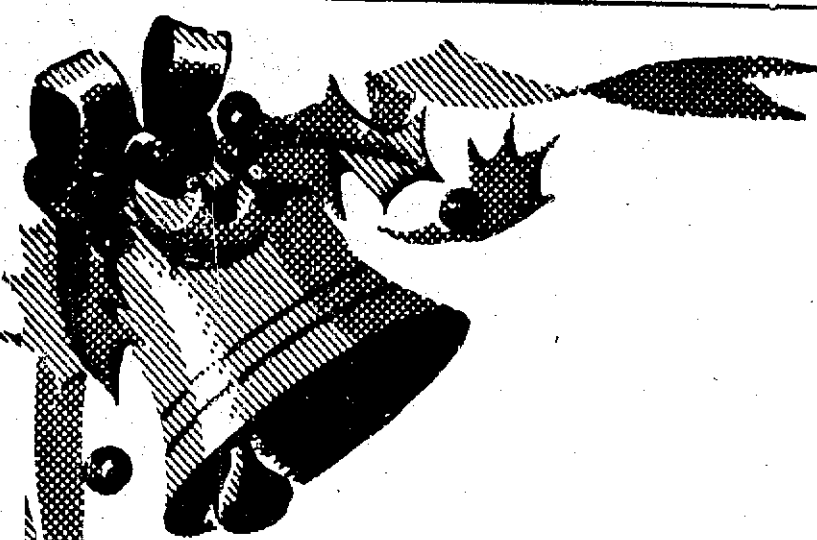

As far as he is concerned, he added, he'd just as soon die if he doesn't get his daughter back, but "My wife can stay in Washington," he declared.

White School In Union Township Closed For Day

Due to the fact that a case of scarlet fever was discovered at the White school in Union township, Jay G. Rudolph, supervising principal of the township had the school closed for today.

The closing was to enable workmen to fumigate the building and make it germ free, to prevent the spread of any disease. School will be resumed at this building on Monday, Rudolph stated today.

Correct this sentence: "My watch stopped running yesterday," said she: "And I'm afraid to think with it myself."

"Wronged" Wife Changes Her Mind, Will Help Girl

Pittsburgh Woman Who Caused Arrest Of Cigarette
Girl, Lover Of Husband, Relents(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—The wife who sent her husband's "girl friend" to jail, today was attempting to free her from a one year's sentence.

Mrs. Dolores Clark, 23, of Hazelwood, who sent pretty Norma Pancoast, a night club cigarette girl, to jail when she testified that she entered her home and found Miss Pancoast and her husband together in a darkened room, today wanted her released because she "has suffered enough."

"Her health is bad," Mrs. Clark said. "I don't want her in jail. I'm not thinking of myself now."

Changes Her Mind

But Mrs. Clark wasn't in the same frame of mind last August. On July 30 she accompanied police on a raid on her own apartment. Police testified that they found Mrs. Clark's husband, Kenneth, 24, in the company of Miss Pancoast and that Miss Pancoast was clad only in a green slip.

Although the pretty cigarette girl testified she and Clark were only developing pictures, Mrs. Clark offered further testimony that Miss Pancoast hit her in the face with a beaded bag, so visiting Judge Harry James of Bradford county sentenced Miss Pancoast to a year in jail.

Things are different now. Yesterday she was advised that if she wanted to free the "other girl" she might petition for a parole. Mrs. Clark has filed suit for divorce, too, and Clark has announced he will marry Miss Pancoast as soon as he can.

and members of the bar delivered eulogies. Another memorial service will be held later for the late Attorney C. H. Akens.

Expense account of Louis E. Graham, successful Republican candidate for congress at the recent election, has been filed at the county commissioners' office. It shows contributions amounting to $1200, and disbursements of $2,168.75. Expense account of J. Elder Bryan shows that he expended $239 in his race for assembly.

County Treasurer V. I. Mandich has put on a force of five clerks to work at night, in order to get out delinquent tax statements before the time limit expires on December 31.

There are many applicants who wish to take advantage of the abatements offered, and it has been found impossible to get out all of the statements working day turn. Treasurer Mandich says that he cannot accept any delinquent tax money, less penalties, after December 31. Receipts have been coming in at the rate of several thousand dollars a day since the law went into effect.

improvement, has been continued until a later date. Wells, who owns a dairy farm, claims that his property has been damaged to the extent of $5000.

District Attorney John G. Lamoree has posted a schedule of the order in which criminal cases will be taken up at court next week. The first case on the list is that of the commonwealth against Frank Mozzone, who is charged with murder. As it will be necessary to select the jury by swearing the jurors on their voir dire, and examining them as to their views on capital punishment, it is not likely that any of the other cases will be taken up until the murder jury is sworn.

The order in which the other cases are to be taken up is as follows: Frank Rossetti, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Carl Vanhousen, malicious mischief; Edger Peoples, indecent assault; Paul D. Emery, fornication and bastardy; John B. Haley, assault and battery; Jesse Walters, fornication and bastardy.

Peter Koloby, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor; James E. Rutter, breaking and entering; Connie Means, assault and battery; Eddie Kwolek, assault and battery; Carl Layton, breaking and entering, carrying concealed weapons, felonious assault and battery; Ed. Spicer, statutory charge, and Nick Tschai, adultery.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—Back home from a six weeks' vacation trip, Kay Francis, noted film actress, let it be known Thursday she and Baron Erik Raven Barnekow, aviation expert, are going to be married.
Baron Barnekow greeted Miss Francis affectionately at the airport, thus dispelling rumors her betrothal to the baron had been broken.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WHAT OF VITAMINS?—THE SOURCE OF SCURVY

This discourse on Vitamins brings us today to Vitamin C. Its chief claim to fame is that its presence in food prevents scurvy, that disease which used to take such a toll amongst sailors and explorers in the far north.

This vitamin is in most fruits and vegetables when they are eaten raw. Unfortunately, it is very easily driven off by heat. Even fruit or vegetables that aren't fresh show a distinct loss in their Vitamin C content. If you wish to retain this property in your vegetables, don't cook them in open vessels.

Years ago people didn't know anything about this Vitamin C. But they did know that the juice of lemons cured scurvy, or protected from its ravages altogether. In fact, it was this knowledge which gave to the British seamen the term "Limey". The sailors, as one story has it, used to raid cargoes of lemons, then known as limes. In fact, their fondness for these limes became well-known, hence the nickname. The reason they wanted these fruits was their need for Vitamin C.

In the early days of America, our ancestors suffered from scurvy. This was particularly true of the northern parts. Naturally in the south there were plenty of citrus fruits; these did just what the lemons did for the sailors—supplied enough Vitamin C to ward off the scurvy.

Early French explorers in Canada suffered greatly from scurvy. Even 30 years ago I saw plenty of scurvy in my practice. Of course their diet was a monotonous one—salt pork and peeled potatoes. Was it any wonder scurvy caused much illness and death? If they had even eaten their potatoes with the skins on, it might have given them enough extra Vitamin C to keep them healthy.

The severe manifestations of scurvy are seldom seen by doctors today. It is fairly common to see mild cases of it in children, but sometimes even these aren't seen unless one is observant. Retarding of weight and height gains in the early days of a child's life is one of the signs that Vitamin C is lacking.

In infants, the reserves of this vitamin depends pretty much on the mother. Mothers must have this reserve supplied in their food. The Vitamin C supply drops rapidly after birth, and must be supplied through the mother's milk. I have no hesitation in stating that mother's milk is the ideal food for babies. If this supply of mother's milk is not at hand, then a synthetic substitute must be devised. When this is necessary, be sure and consult your doctor; get his advice on how to make sure that the vitamin content will be in that substitute.

I have often seen children two or three days old whose stomach and bowels are upset; this is always accompanied by an alarming loss of weight. It usually indicates a Vitamin C deficiency.

We made particularly certain to give the quintuplets an oversupply of foods with this vitamin when they were born because premature children such as they were need more than the average. But all children must have it.

Reorganization Will Be Asked

President To Resubmit Appeal In Special Message To Congress

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Roosevelt will resubmit his appeal for a comprehensive reorganization of the Federal government machine in a special message to the coming congress, he disclosed at his press conference today.

The executive said he would seek the same broad objectives that were proposed at the last session—and defended—and he predicted that legislation undoubtedly would be enacted following in the broad sense what was originally requested.

Mr. Roosevelt left it up to congress as to whether an omnibus reorganization bill should be introduced or whether the program should be broken up into four or five bills, as urged by Senator James Byrnes (D) South Carolina, who piloted the measure last session.

Everyone admits, the president said, the need to improve government. Congress has as much information on the subject, gathered over a 40 year period, as it will ever get he said, and congress being the legislative body, it is up to it to act.

Mr. McConahy was their instructor. Through his teaching and practice demonstrations, the girls have found their work both interesting and instructive.

The meeting closed with taps and court of honor followed.

Deny Case May Not Be Tried

Report Milk Monopoly Case May Be Settled Is Refuted

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—While it was reported that the government's milk monopoly case may be settled out of court, federal prosecutors today denied such a move was afoot.

Trial of the fifty-seven individual and corporate defendants accused of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust laws was deferred yesterday until January 23.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, agreed to the delay after Attorney L. N. McIntosh representing the Associated Milk Dealers announced:

"If we are given time I believe we can arrive at something agreeable to the government."

The attorney general's office in some other so-called monopoly cases has been willing to accept a consent decree in which the defendants agree to stop the alleged violations and thus saved the time and expense of trial.

Special Assistant Attorney General Leo F. Tierney, who presented the evidence against the milk industry in the Chicago area to the grand jury, said that such an agreement was not contemplated in the present case.

"I am opposed to any delay that will interfere with the prompt trial of this case," he told the court.

Business Rise Is Continued

Pittsburgh Report Shows Steady Increase In District Business

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—Continuing its almost uninterrupted rise since last June, business in the Pittsburgh district last week reached a new high level for the year, the bureau of business research, University of Pittsburgh, announced today.

Despite a further slowing down in the rate of steel mill operations, business jumped two points from the preceding week and the bureau's index stood at 87.3 per cent of the 1923-25 average. Since June the business index has advanced nearly 31 points, according to the bureau.

In declaring that this has been one of the most rapid as well as one of the longest sustained advances in the 55 years for which it has records, the bureau struck a pessimistic note when it announced that it was difficult to see how this rate of increase can continue without a setback.

Rail shipments, electric power production, and bituminous coal production all rose appreciably last week, the bureau noted. Also, the bureau recorded that river tonnage was the heaviest in 14 months.

Youth Is Given 30-Day Sentence

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 9.—C. C. Cerone may be blind, but he's not deaf.

As a result Tom Fitzpatrick, Elm Grove youth, today was under a 30-day sentence for attempting to steal a pot of money which was to have been used for a Christmas fund for poor children.

Cerone, a candy vendor in the city-county building, testified that shortly after Fitzpatrick passed his stand and talked to him, the jar with the money was missing.

Police investigated and acting on the hint of Cerone, who said he thought he recognized the voice as being that of one of the crew of jail inmates who did janitorial work, arrested Fitzpatrick.

Police brought Cerone and Fitzpatrick together and ordered the latter to speak to Cerone. Cerone immediately identified the voice, police said.

Philadelphia Surgeon Performs Rare Operation And Stitches Up Wounded Heart

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Although a penknife blade pierced his heart, 14-year-old Adam Elmow, son of a Philadelphia widow with three children, was alive today because of the deft surgical skill of Dr. Bruce Fleming.

Less than two hours after he was stabbed accidentally while playing "cops and robbers" with another youth, Elmow was on the operating table at Roxborough Memorial hospital. During the rare surgery—an operation requiring 50 minutes—Dr. Fleming, the institution's chief surgeon, put three stitches in the damaged organ and four in the sac surrounding the heart.

Dr. Fleming found the pericardial sac enclosing the heart filled with about a pint of blood, which he drained off and, after stitching the wound, pumped back into the boy's veins. Although he pulled through the ordeal well, Adam's condition is still critical.

Big Problems Face Incoming Governor James

Taxation, Organization Of Party Forces, And Selection Of Cabinet Come First

RELIEF PROBLEM IS HEAVY BURDEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—Three immediate problems face Governor-elect Arthur H. James as he prepares to take up the reins of Pennsylvania government for the next four years.

Briefly, they are:

- 1—Taxation, relief and general fiscal policies.
- 2—Organization of the party forces for the 1939 regular session of the legislature, scheduled to convene January 3.
- 3—Selection of a cabinet and other key officials in the state government.

Puzzle No. 1—That of successfully handling the financial problem of the commonwealth—appeared most likely to give the greatest difficulty. And there are reasons for it.

Millions Needed

First of all, the incoming Republican administration will be faced with the immediate problem of raising approximately $30,000,000 in relief funds for the remainder of the biennium ending May 31, 1939. The Department of Public Assistance has announced that it has practically depleted the $25,000,000 advanced it by the special session. All told, the state will have appropriated over $300,000,000 for relief during the 1937-39 biennium.

But the James administration pledged to reduce taxes in an effort to attract new industries to the state, must find funds somewhere. Many observers felt that the new governor would urge a flat income tax to replace some of the emergency levies on manufacturing corporations, as recommended by the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce.

Graduated income taxes have been declared in violation of the state constitution.

To add to James' troubles, the administration will have to frame a new relief budget for the 1939-41 biennium.

Other expenses will include general state authority rentals (for buildings now being erected), upkeep of 14 mental institutions scheduled to be taken over by the state (provided for by the special session just ended), a biennial payroll of $89,000,000 (unless there should be a drastic slash in the number of state employees, now numbering about 27,000).

Democrats In Control

Puzzle No. 2—That of party organization in the regular session may give more trouble than anticipated, despite the good-sized majority the G. O. P. will have in the house. Democrats have consistently declared that they will maintain control of the senate, although on paper there is but a 28-24 ratio favoring the Democrats. Several recalcitrant Democrats, notably Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn, Delaware county, and Sen. Anthony C. Alcantara, Fayette firebrand, may support the G. O. P., but Democrats, by virtue of their control in the upper chamber at their first meeting—before the inauguration of James on January 17—expect to be able to dictate the complexion of important committees. Sen. John Rice, Adams county, has already been designated president pro tempore. Sen. Harry Shapiro, Philadelphia

Democrat, is slated as majority floor leader succeeding Rice.

Cavalierly probably will become Democratic "whip" in the senate as the "olive branch" offering to keep him with the vastly smaller "Little New Deal" majority.

As for the Republicans, Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, recent minority floor leader in the house and a member of the graft charge investigation committee which probed corruption charges against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 other Democrats, had the inside track for the speakership of the lower chamber. In the senate, though nothing definite has come from the G. O. P. leadership as yet, Sen. G. Mason Owlett, Republican National Committee man from Tioga county and defeatist for the U. S. senatorial nomination by U. S. Sen. James J. Davis last spring, appeared to be headed for the floor leadership.

A Dauphin county representative, Robert E. Woodside, Jr., apparently was the Republican slated for floor leadership in the house.

Puzzle No. 3—Though not the most difficult to answer, but one to which great deliberation must be granted, that of selecting a cabinet and appointing high state officials—provided the new governor with his final problem.

However, James has consistently stated that nothing will be announced until after the Christmas holidays on the selection of a cabinet or other appointments. Rumors and possible appointments have been numerous but Republican leaders have refused to disclose anything definite.

CHIMNEY CAUSE OF SMALL BLAZE

Firemen were called to the home of William Nickle, of 450 Weshannock avenue, at 6:35 o'clock Thursday evening, where a defective chimney caused a small fire in the breakfast room at the rear of the home. Members of the family discovered the blaze just after it started, and Mr. Nickle, with some friends, had the fire practically out when firemen arrived on the scene.

Rev. Bennett Named To Head Scout Council

Annual Dinner Meeting Of Lawrence County Leaders
Held Thursday

L. B. ROUND SPEAKS OF SCOUT CHARACTER

At the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council held Thursday evening in the George Washington Junior high school building, Rev. G. S. Bennett was elected as president, to head the council for the coming year.

The meeting was in the form of a dinner with a delicious menu being served at 6:30 o'clock in the school cafeteria. As a feature of the banquet the meal was served cafeteria style.

Louis B. Round, a former president of the council, was introduced as the main speaker of the evening. Mr. Round very skillfully and entertainingly wove together numerous facts and presented a fine talk of "Character."

In his talk, Mr. Round explained in detail how scout training and leadership helps to build character. He used many fine examples from life to make his talk more clear and interesting.

During the business session, various scouting committees made their reports of activities during the year. Facts brought out during the meeting showed that the number of troops had increased from 24 to 35 and that the number of scouts from 547 to 760.

In a report of the advancement program, the total showed a better percentage of scout advancing here than is reported nationally.

After the reports were given officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. G. S. Bennett; Charles W. Carbeau, Ellwood City; Louis E. Round, New Castle, and W. Fillmore Campbell, New Wilmington, were named as vice presidents. Ralph Davis was again chosen to fill the post of scout commissioner and Frank F. Fischer was re-elected as treasurer.

Rev. Bennett succeeds Rev. A. M. Stump who had served the council very ably as president during the past two years. It was learned today that Dr. Bennett will appoint chairman for the various committees in a few days.

Raft Would Give Oscar Hahn Real Christmas Treat

Movie Star Offers To Have Son Of Late Anna Marie
Hahn Spend Christmas
On CoastBy HARRISON CARROLL
(Copyright, 1938)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—An invitation to visit Hollywood at Christmas is on the way to the 12-year-old son of Anna Marie Hahn, Ohio's poison murderer, who paid for her crime Wednesday by dying in the electric chair.

Impressed by the tragedy of the boy, who spent hours with his mother in the death house, George Raft, film star, yesterday sent an invitation to the youngster to spend Christmas in Hollywood as the actor's guest.

Raft wants to pay all the boy's expenses on the trip and to give him a holiday that will help to wipe away the memory of those grim hours spent in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

"The thought of that kid haunts me," said Raft, telephoning here to arrange for the invitation.

The star called from near San Diego where he is working in a picture, "The Ladies From Kentucky." Raft said he will be back in Hollywood in ample time to welcome Anna Hahn's son if the invitation is accepted.

Mrs. Mary Santangelo, 314 Florence avenue, was injured and treated by a doctor. She and her husband, Mike, were occupants of Cioffi's auto. The accident occurred at 7:15 p. m. Thursday.

Appeal Sent To Senator Guffey

Asks That WPA Forces Not Be Cut Until After Christmas Holidays

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—State Representative Elmer J. Holland today appealed to U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey to delay the reduction in WPA rolls until after Christmas.

In a letter to the senator, Holland said:

"The ruling from Washington to cut WPA rolls at this time is very inopportune. Do those who make these rules realize what effect this ruling will have on those families on Christmas morning when they wake up and find their children denied the real spirit of Christmas and realize that December 25th is merely another day?"

Must Realize

"Do those who make these rules realize that every man laid off by the WPA at this time cannot receive relief for a period of 21 days—which means that the dawn of Christmas Day finds him without sufficient food for his family?"

Holland also asked why machinery and equipment was not first curtailed, adding that it is hired at a per diem rate equal to a laborer's salary for two weeks, and then added:

"Congress has appropriated a large sum of money to investigate Communist activities under the Dies committee. More Communists will be made by the dismissal of WPA labor than any committee can ever discover by investigation."

The C. I. O. has changed its name, but it is still John L. Lewis for short.

Eggs will spoil more quickly if they are washed. A natural mucous coating covers the shells and delays the entrance of harmful germs into the interior. Washing will soften this coating, or remove it, and thus diminishes their keeping quality.

—SENATOR O'MAHONEY

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 9. — "Continued expansion of government control over business is dangerous", members of the National Association of Manufacturers were told Thursday by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Democratic chairman of the Senate Monopoly Committee.

That was comfort to the manufacturers who have been lying awake nights wondering what might be the attitude of the senator. And he had more comfort for them in his speech at the American Congress of Industry luncheon. Comfort nicely balanced by suggestion of the limits which corporation activity may not pass. He said:

"We are all aware, of course, that from time to time throughout history there have been attempts on the part of private persons to suppress competition in particular lines and in other countries if not this, the political doctrine has been advanced that government should abolish competition and assume complete control of all business.

Opposed To Both
"American opinion is overwhelmingly opposed to both of these policies. The people of this country, it may be safely said, want to preserve competition in business because they believe that it is the best method of keeping the door of opportunity open to all.

"Because they want to preserve competition, they are inherently opposed to its suppression by either private or public authority.
To attain this objective, O'- Mahoney said, "there must be regulation — that is to say there must be a rule to which all subscribe, a rule drafted in the public interest."

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law set up that rule, the speaker said, but that law has been misunderstood and misinterpreted although, he added, it is the fundamental concept of the kind of regulation government should undertake.

"Many seem to believe that it is antagonistic to size in business", O'- Mahoney asserted, "but it is not.
It is merely directed against certain practices in interstate commerce which, under what we call Anglo-Saxon law, have always been regarded as abuses detrimental to the public interest."

"To Preserve Competition"
And the purpose of those who drafted the law, he said, "was to preserve competition." The entire history of the relation of business and government since the passage of the Sherman Law "has been the history of an attempt on the part of the people to preserve competition, to keep business free, to maintain the right of the individual to work."

O'Mahoney asserted that there are "two concepts of economy now at work in the world, both of them undemocratic, both of them the very antithesis of the principles upon which our government was founded, both of them leading inevitably to the authoritarian state, and neither of them preserving the American ideal of the unalienable right of every person to work."

Those theories were sponsored by two groups, he said, one "because they wanted 'big business' free of all government regulation," the other opposed to anti-trust laws because they saw in progressive combinations and mergers "a trend that would lead inevitably to the absorption of all business by government."

Better Enforcement
Out of these theories have come many suggestions of the form that regulation should take, O'Mahoney reported. Roughly they fall into two classes — increase discretionary control of business by government and more clearly define and better enforce the acts.

He himself opposed extending government control over business.
"The economic life of the people is a dynamic thing, constantly changing, constantly developing. It thrives best in a free atmosphere," he said. "Once it is brought within the power of any man, board, group, or faction to control, it ceases to be natural and inevitably becomes restricted by the 'leasthe comprehension and the predictions of the men exercising the power. It is not a democratic system."

But when it is proposed that business should be permitted to regulate itself, O'Mahoney asserted, "it is merely proposed that one element of society should be permitted to draw rules which will effect all others."

"This is the method by which trade associations have sometimes sought to exploit the public by fixing prices, limiting production, or attempting to exclude new-comers from the field."

There must be rule and regulation for some kinds of business
"written by government—the people's government—in the interest of all," O'Mahoney claimed, for the standard of living is "a highly fragile and unstable standard" resting in great measure on the production of things actually not needed to sustain life.

"Obviously, the rule or regulation by which business of this kind is to be guided can not be written by the competitors alone," O'Mahoney asserted.

Farmer Is Real Backbone Of Our Future Democracy

Individual Farmer Makes Up Middle Class And Is Sorely Needed

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The individual farmer is the backbone of the middle class and democracy depends for its future on a large, secure middle class, W. W. Waymack, editor of the editorial page of the Des Moines, Iowa, Register and Tribune, told the Congress of American Industry in New York Thursday.

Waymack, a Pulitzer Prize winner for editorial writing last year, reported that "capitalism as we know it is bound to be radically changed" if the number of farm owner-operators continues to decrease.

Are Many Angles
Other angles of the farm-industry-capital situation were discussed by W. W. Shoemaker, chairman of the agricultural committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Lewis Morris, an Iowa "plain farmer."

"The only kind of workable democracy we know of," he said, "is associate with private property, rather than with ownership, as well as with other great natural rights. The Russians used to believe, perhaps still do, that they could create after completely changing the basic ideology of a people, a new and better democracy in which private property would be mostly 'out.' We are not disposed as yet to adopt their thinking."

"But if through indifference, because thought is arduous, or through fatalism, we permit rural land ownership to concentrate, if we create on the farms as in the cities a minority of the propertied face to face with a majority of the propertyless, if by proletarianizing agriculture we set the 'haves' against the 'have nots' permanently in that area, what is your prognosis as to the future of our social order?"

Chicken Hatchery Uses Electrical Equipment Aids

To Have Demonstration At Carl Gardner Hatchery In Plaingrove Township

Demonstration of electrical equipment employed in brooding and raising chickens will be held Monday at the Carl Gardner hatchery in Plaingrove township.

Gardner has eight pens in one building and several brooders in another building. Talking to a News reporter yesterday he said he hatches about 30,000 eggs annually.

In his hatchery he has a ventilating system. Oil is used for heat. Fans operated by electricity force the hot air throughout the three floors. In summer time cold air is driven by the fans through the pipes.

He has an electric feed mill in which he mixes grain into mash and he also has an electric water system which pipes water to the different containers in the pens. Electricity is also used to warm the water for the chickens.

The capacity of one of his several electrically operated and heated ventilators is 11,000 eggs. Gardner has about 1700 New Hampshire and White Leghorns now.

Return From Long Visit To Wales

Mrs. Wm. Patchel And Daughter
Tell Of Stirring Days
While Overseas

Mrs. William Patchel and daughter, Mary Jane, of 407 Elizabeth St., have recently returned from a one and a half year's trip to Wales, England, and France. They visited with Mrs. Patchel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Davies, of Garmant, South Wales. Mrs. Patchel has visited the Old Country, nine times, within the last eighteen years.

They witnessed the coronation of King George the Sixth, and they enjoyed the gorgeous event, immensely, also visited the Tower of London, and saw the Crown Jewels.

At the time when Hitler made his speech in Nuremberg, they were visiting Paris. This caused a great stir in that city, and in a couple of days, saw large troop movements toward the German border. Welsh and English, folks hastened to leave France, to return to their native country. Arriving there they found that Americans were preparing to leave Britain, for home.

Measurements for gas masks for the British people were speeded up, cattle, horses, land acreage, etc., were being declared for government war emergency use, leaflets distributed stating where people might find refuge from bombing attacks; war seemed very imminent.

Mrs. Patchel states that opinion is divided on the Munich agreement over there, as many condemn it.

When taking the bus, from Garmant to Neath, South Wales, to get the train for Southampton, England, to return on the "Queen Mary," a gentleman espied Mrs. Patchel's suitcase in the bus rack, addressed New Castle, Pa. He excitedly said, "Are you from New Castle? I have a nephew there, his name is Ed.

Pritchard, and he was sheriff, and I am going out to visit him, next summer." Mrs. Patchel managed to have time to say, that she knew of Mr. Pritchard, and believed that her husband knew him very well.

While in Wales, Mary Jane went to public school, and enjoyed her visit there very much, being quite at home with the young folks, she having just arrived at the age of thirteen, but large for her age. She picked up the Welsh language fairly well while there, and can sing some of the Welsh songs and hymns, one of them being "Calon lan."

Sir Walter Scott regarded "Guy Mannerling" as his best work. It was also written more rapidly than any of his other books, being completed in six weeks.

Find Electric Rate Low Here

New Castle, Ellwood City, Farrell and Sharon Have Low Rates

COMMISSION MAKES SURVEY OF STATE

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—Families consuming an average of 25 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month pay less for this current in New Castle, Ellwood City, Farrell and Sharon than any other Pennsylvania city in the 10,000 to 50,000 population group, according to figures made public today by the Federal Power Commission.

The commission's study was based on typical bills for residential electricity consumers as of January first this year. The cost of 25 kilowatt-hours was found to be $1.20 in New Castle, Ellwood City, Farrell and Sharon. This was the lowest cost for such an amount in Pennsylvania cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population.

The cost of 100 kilowatt-hours was found to be $3.83 in New Castle and $3.80 in Ellwood City. Of the cities in this population group, 14 had lower costs for this amount of power than did Ellwood and 15 had lower costs than New Castle.

The moderate costs for electricity in New Castle are emphasized by the fact that the Pennsylvania has 87 cities in the 10,000 to 50,000 population classification and that the charges for 25 kilowatt-hours, 100 kilowatt-hours and 250 kilowatt-hours are much greater in most of these than New Castle.

Grove City Man Pastor In Town Of Mine Disaster

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Dec. 9.—Many of the 16 miners killed and 50 others injured in the Princess colliery, oldest coal mine in North America, at Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia, when a hauling cable snapped, were members of the church served by a Grove City man, it is believed. The Rev. Quincy McDowell, son of Alonzo McDowell of near here, has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Sydney Mines for five years and a number of local people have visited the mine where the disaster occurred.

In the accident, a string of 26 cars, carrying 250 miners down two miles on a ten percent grade ran wild when a cable snapped. The train crashed into a shaft wall at a mile-a-minute speed, killing 16, critically injuring 31 and sending a score of others to the hospital with minor cuts.

On a visit to Rev. McDowell's last June, Dr. H. B. Henderson of this city was taken down into the Princess Colliery on the same train that crashed this week. The trip covered seven miles, including two miles under an arm of the Atlantic ocean. The local minister has a piece of fossilized slate he picked up in the mine workings, 1500 feet under the ocean.

Juvenile Court And Non-Support Cases Are Heard

More Than Three Hundred Husbands Pay Wives
Through Parole Officer

DUNLAP CITES SOME CASES INVESTIGATED

Juvenile court was held Thursday by Judge W. Walter Bräham and Thomas W. Dickey.

The hearings were in private, only the juveniles and their parents being permitted to be present. The object of the juvenile court is to help delinquents, who are paroled in charge of Parole Officer Jack M. Dunlap, to whom they must report regularly.

Juvenile cases and those of desertion and non-support, occupy considerable time of the court. On December first, some fourteen new cases of desertion and non-support were before the court, and there are others to come up today.

Over 300 Pay Wives
All the orders made in the desertion and non-support cases are made payable through the office of Jack M. Dunlap, desertion probation officer. There are at present around three hundred active cases on the books of the probation officer, and there are about twenty-five cases to be heard today.

So great has been the increase in desertion and non-support cases that it has been necessary to hear some of them almost every week. Heretofore hearings were held every three months.

The records disclose the fact says Dunlap that in a great number of cases, the litigants are, or have been, on relief or the WPA. Further it has been found that in many cases the husband and wife having separated, both secured relief or were assigned to the WPA.

Information Increase
Now when the married women or women with children have been removed from WPA rolls, it has started a general increase in information of wives against husbands, and it is expected that there will be close to one hundred additional cases of desertion and non-support as a result.

Investigations by Parole Officer Dunlap and Edwin Reed of the county welfare department have disclosed the fact that women have left their husbands, in not only other counties, but other states and come to Lawrence county, lived with friends or relatives, then later, through one means or another, secured relief here, and even been assigned to WPA.

In one case Dunlap says that a man deserted his wife in another state and brought his children with him to New Castle to the home of friends who were almost as unfortunate as he.

Would Conceal Husbands
In his investigations Dunlap has found that some women try to avoid disclosing the whereabouts of their husbands, hoping to secure relief or WPA employment. They also try to avoid pressing claims against the husband.

In one instance, he says, the wife was found employed on the WPA in Lawrence county while the husband living in another county, was employed on the WPA. He would come to New Castle to visit his wife, and she in turn would visit him.

In one case investigated by Dunlap, he found where the wife, working on the WPA, had rooms for herself and child, while the husband living in property which he owned, had a truck, and was employed on the WPA.

One woman was very candid in her statement that she had moved from an adjoining state to get relief, hoping thereby to get on a sewing project, the official said.

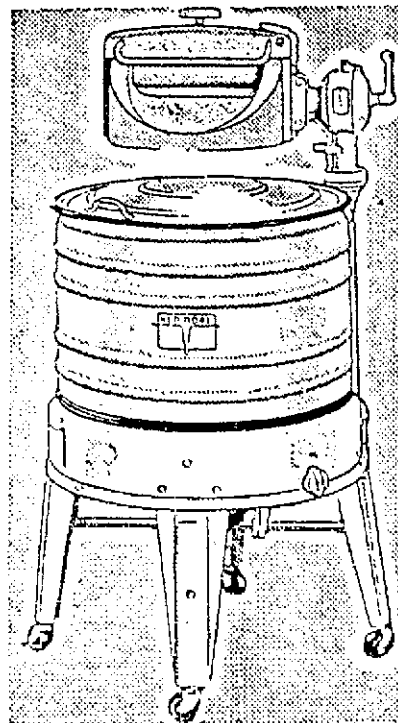

Homes Re-established
In about a dozen cases where removals have been made from WPA homes have been re-established.

Dunlap says that one woman came from an adjoining state, lived with some friends for a short time, then went before an alderman and made an information against her husband for desertion and non-support, when in fact, investigation disclosed the man had never been in Pennsylvania. When located, although his wife claimed she did not know his whereabouts, he crossed a willingness and desire for his family to return to their home. After the woman had been in jail a few days she returned to her place of legal residence.

Several have been prosecuted for unlawfully securing relief and making false and perjured statements, and more prosecutions are in prospect as a close check up is being made.

a three-wheel landing gear. This course is furnished transport pilots who desire the training. Mr. Ice is the first local pilot to pass the tests.
The course consisted of taking off without visual contact with the ground, and taught flying by instruments on a radio beam and five ways to find one's self after becoming lost.

All kinds of weather conditions were experienced during the course.
Bumpy air which made the instruments get off their course was also used, and icy conditions that are caused by the ship flying through the clouds at a cold temperature.

Mr. Ice was taught radio compass flying, that is, tuning some distant radio broadcast at your point of destination and then flying to that point. Mr. Ice expects to receive his diploma for the course in the next two weeks.

The course was given by W. Dixon, instructor for Captain Richard Her-bine, supervising inspector for the state of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is the only state in the Union giving this training to their transport pilots, thus instilling safety in their minds.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

BREEDING TURKEYS LAY MORE EGGS WITH LIGHTS

That lights stimulate breeding turkeys to begin laying earlier in the winter has been shown experimentally by a number of agricultural experiment stations.

At the Pennsylvania State college, all-night lights were started on two pens of breeding turkeys on January 1, 1938. One pen was of the Bronze variety and the other White Holland. Both groups were pullets hatched the previous April.

The birds in both pens began laying two weeks after the lights were turned on. To March 1, the average egg production was 22 for the White Hollands and 23 for the Bronze. Although egg production was good, fertility was low. However, pullets hatched from the fertile eggs were strong with good livability.

Records of the Iowa agricultural experiment station covering four years of study with morning, evening and all-night lights show earlier egg production results. Fertility was slightly reduced, hatchability was not affected, but greater egg production per season gave more pullets per hen for the season.

FARMERS SELL EVERGREEN BOUGHS FOR DECORATIONS
This is the season of the year when many towns and organizations are on the lookout for evergreen boughs for decorating streets, churches or meeting places.

Generally the boughs are purchased by the ton or truckload and cut by the buyers.

Farmers owning hemlock, pine or spruce timber will find this an excellent method of adding to the income from their woodlot. Proper removal of evergreen branches to supply decorative material during the holiday season does not harm the trees.

Cut off limbs close to the trunk of the trees so that the wounds will heal quickly. It is important to leave enough green foliage to maintain the tree's life. Ordinarily, it is best not to reduce the crown length to less than one-third of the height of the tree.

Not only will the proper removal of branches from 10 to 20-year-old pine plantings yield a large quantity of evergreen boughs, but it will also improve the quality of timber produced for harvest at a later date.

WINTER MACHINE REPAIR HALTS SUMMER TIME LOSS
A few hours spent this winter in caring for machinery in a good shelter will save many hours and headaches next year.

The most important consideration in the repair of any machine is that the work be done systematically and thoroughly. Good farm management requires that the operator note all repairs and adjustments needed by a machine when its work for the season is finished.

Record all needed repairs and adjustments on a tag attached to the machine. It can then be fixed during slack times provided the necessary repairs have been obtained. Often much time is required to secure the required parts. This is particularly true of old machines.

Before another plowing season arrives, it is a good plan to remove loose plow points, clean out dirt and tighten bolts. It is advisable to tighten all frame bolts and polish and oil the plow bottoms.

Most harrows can stand inspection. In many instances it will be necessary to order new teeth to replace those badly worn. It may be found that depth-lever bars need adjustment so that the teeth are all set at the same depth.

Don't overlook cleaning the grain drill. All seed and fertilizer should be removed from the gates. Clean and oil open surfaces.

All parts of the cultivator, replacing those that are broken or badly worn. Sharpen, set and polish shovels, and cover them with crankcase oil or grease before storing the machine until next season.

The grain binder is a frequent cause of trouble during the harvesting season. Careful attention to its repair will save valuable time then. Remove all dirt and excessive grease. Inspect it for broken or badly worn parts and order replacements. Cover the wearing surfaces with grease or oil. Tighten all bolts.

GROWING CALVES NEED VITAMINS IN RATIONS

Vitamins are necessary for the growth of thrifty calves.

The most important are vitamins A and D. Vitamin A is essential for growth and resistance to disease. Vitamin D is credited with the prevention of rickets.

Green-colored hay and yellow corn are among the best sources of vitamin A. Direct sunlight and sun-cured hay rank at the top as sources of vitamin D.

To be sure that growing calves receive sufficient quantities of these vitamins during winter months, be sure to feed sun-cured hay having bright green color. Use yellow corn in the grain mixture. Whenever possible, turn the calves out to exercise in bright sunlight.

Sometimes the proper feeds are not available on the farm and the weather is cloudy for days. In such cases, addition of cod liver oil to the ration will provide both vitamins A and D. Since cod liver oil loses its potency on exposure to the air, it is a good plan to mix it with only a small amount of the ration at each mixing.

INDIVIDUAL GIFTS HAVE REAL VALUE TO RECEIVER

With the first snowfall of the year a reality, and Thanksgiving past, we begin to count the days left in which to complete our Christmas preparations.

A gift which has been made with the particular taste and need of the recipient as the inspiration has an intrinsic value.

Why not make use of our ingenuity and a few fabrics to fashion one of those ever useful, ever popular accessories so dear to the feminine eye? Miss Julia Markie, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county, offers a few suggestions for these personal gifts.

A yard of gay silk will make a colorful topper for the dark dress and transform it for the holiday festivities.

The daughter who is in college will welcome one of the vests or waistcoats so popular this winter. They are made of felt, velvet, pique or wool, and are worn over sweaters or under the short jacket of a suit. Zipper fasteners will simplify the construction of these vests.

Bright little jackets of the bolero type with or without an accompanying wide girle makes a gay party costume out of a street dress. Commercial patterns are available for the new wide girdles in several styles, and we can buy patterns for gloves, hats and purses.

A yard of material will make two or three scarfs. Finish the edges with narrow hand hems. Dainty undergarments are always appreciated as luxury gifts. College girls will prize lounging pajamas which may be had in a wide range of styles, colors and fabrics. Almost everyone will like a new blouse. Ready for the first sign of spring, it will make last year's suit seem like new.

New Grange Hall To Be Dedicated

BADEN, Pa., Dec. 9.—J. A. Book, of New Castle, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, will be in charge of the dedication of Economy township's new grange hall this evening. The large frame building, erected almost entirely by farm folk of the locality, is located at Wall Rose, near Baden.

The real crime of the non-Germans in Germany was that of having $400,000,000 which a broke government coveted.

Italian Troops Concentrating At Point Near Border

Italian Troops Fighting In Spain, Are Within Striking Distance Of France

(International News Service)
PARIS, Dec. 9.—Flanking movements by Italian troops operating against the Spanish government along the Pyrenees frontier today gave rise to erroneous reports that Italian army units are concentrating within striking distance of France. Ten thousand members of mechanized units, with artillery and light tanks, are making surprise thrusts against Barcelona's forces, driving them back and capturing many, according to unofficial French sources.

Ridicule was poured on the idea that Italy was menacing France from Spain. It was pointed out that more than two army corps (from 70,000 to 80,000 men) are permanently stationed on the French side of the border, in a mountainous region which strategists say could easily be defended against ten enemy army corps.

The same French sources said the Italians are organizing Spanish insurgent fighting detachments with an Italian framework known as the "Green Arrows" in order to increase the effectiveness of the insurgents.

Cyrus E. Woods Taken By Death

Westmoreland County Resident, Former Ambassador To Japan, Dies In Hospital

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Former ambassador to Japan, Cyrus E. Woods of Greensburg, Westmoreland county, died Thursday in his 78th year at Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, where he had been a patient since November 1.

Ill for some time, Woods was alone in his hospital room, except for his nurse, when the end came. Born in Clearfield, Woods became a prominent lawyer and diplomat. He was appointed ambassador to Japan in March, 1923, and distinguished himself during the earthquake that rocked Japan in September of that year.

Red Cross Head

As head of the American Red Cross relief he worked tirelessly and his efforts did much to relieve the anti-American feeling which was running high because of the Japanese exclusion act. Prior to the appointment to Japan, he had served as a Pennsylvania state senator, secretary of the commonwealth, minister to Portugal and ambassador to Spain.

He left Japan in 1924 and three years later President Coolidge named him to a vacancy on the Interstate Commerce commission, but his nomination was rejected by the U. S. Senate after it was charged the appointment was an attempt to pack the commission in favor of Pennsylvania in a soft-coal war. In 1915, Lafayette college gave him an honorary LL.D. degree, and the University of Pennsylvania did the same in 1930.

Pan-America Will Be Aided

Argentina Ready To Make
"Utmost Sacrifices" In Event Of Threat
From Europe

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 9.—Argentina, whose attitude may prove to be the key to new world solidarity, today announced readiness to make the "utmost sacrifices" in the event of any threat to Pan-America from Europe or Asia.

As 21 nations of the western hemisphere assembled in Lima for the eighth Pan-American conference, the opinion of the majority of the Latin American countries was summed in the words of Chief Delegate Ruiz Moreno of Argentina: "We are opposed to any mutual defense pact," he said, "but Argentina is always ready to make the utmost sacrifices in the event the security of any sister nation is threatened."

The idea of a North and South American defense treaty, growing out of President Roosevelt's outspoken fears of foreign encroachments in the western hemisphere, seems to be receding into oblivion. One important United States delegate remarked today: "Who ever said we would propose a continental defense pact at this conference?" This means, observers felt, that an informal understanding rather than a 21-power treaty is being sought by the United States.

Recommend That Youths Be Held For Grand Jury

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—A coroner's jury recommended that three nervous fingered youths be held for the grand jury on a charge of murdering Martin Fink, who hesitated to comply with their demands when they held up his little store and cafe in Turtle Creek.

It took the jury less than five minutes to reach its verdict against James C. Barnett, 21; Howard E. Doyle, 19, and Richard Groter, also 19. The jury was presented with three confessions signed by the three young men. They stared directly at Deputy Coroner John Aidsert as he read the jury's verdict and displayed little emotion. The jury found Barnett held the gun from which the fatal bullet was fired.

Famous Comedians Appearing At Cathedral Today And Tomorrow

Black Bros., One of the Highest Salaried Comedy Teams in the World

This is just one of the sensational acts with the great Karston's Folies Unusual Stage Show to play the Cathedral Theatre today and Saturday. The Folies Unusual Road Show is said to be the greatest on tour today, utilizing a carload of special scenic effects and carrying a score of sensational artists of every description.

The new 1938-39 edition of Karston's Folies Unusual is three times as large as any previous edition, and is said to be the most unusual road show on tour today. Over a carload of special scenery and stage effects are utilized. In addition to a multitude of dancers and entertainers of all descriptions, every scene is in itself, an amazing illusionistic novelty. For instance, in the famous Living Mummy of the Nile scene, beautiful Egyptian slave girls dance around a two thousand year old mummy, who turns to life, becoming a beautiful Egyptian princess before your eyes. This is an amazing effect.

Equally as amazing is the famous Dream of a Chinese emperor scene, in which a beautiful Chinese slave girl is placed into a torture chamber, after which her head and legs are apparently cut off, yet she lives.

Another scene that will be long remembered is a masterpiece of stage craftsmanship, is the famous ten thousand dollar Toy Soldier Spectacle, in which scene dancing toy soldiers, life sized, vanish and change places so rapidly that the human eye cannot follow them.

The show is a show of a thousand and one wonders. Staged and created by the famous illusionist and showman, Karston, who is featured in the production, you are promised something that is truly different, something gigantic in scope, unique in novelty, and decidedly the type of entertainment you cannot get in motion pictures or by radio.

The management of the Cathedral Theatre stated that there will be no reserve seats and that popular prices will prevail. In this way it will be possible for everyone in this community to attend this unusual production. It is something that no one should miss. A gigantic stage show with beautiful talented dancing girls, sensational acts, and unusual scenes. The production carries its own orchestra.

During the past six months this road show has played to over half a million people in the east, and is appearing here to break its jump into the leading cities of the coast, prior to a tour of Australia and the Far East. No one can make a mistake by attending Karston's Folies Unusual, a production that is truly different, real entertainment in gigantic surroundings. Remember the date is today and Saturday.

(Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—Postmaster Steen and New Castle post office employees have been asked by First Assistant Postmaster General W. W. Howe to co-operate with the WPA and NYA in speeding the delivery of checks so that workers on those programs may receive pre-Christmas and pre-New Year's pay.

According to Mr. Howe, the WPA and NYA have informed the Post Office Department they are re-scheduling their working hours to permit early delivery of pay checks during the last two weeks of December. All checks normally delivered through December 26 will be mailed to permit delivery by December 24. Checks normally delivered by January 2 will be mailed to permit delivery by December 31.

Through the Postal Bulletin, Mr. Howe has appealed to all postmasters and post office workers to "give these earlier mailings close attention in order that they may reach their destination and be delivered before Christmas and New Year's as contemplated."

The Human Side Of The News

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

For more than a month, the marriage of Tom Thumb and Lavinia Warren at Grace Church in New York crowded news of the Civil War off the front pages of the newspapers. The death of the midwife, Major James D. Doyle, at Sparta, N. C., is a reminder of this amazing Tom Thumb rowdy-dowdy, fanned up by P. T. Barnum.

Seventy-year-old Major Doyle stemmed from that loud and golden era of honkaton showmanship which makes our later endeavors in that line seem timid indeed. Major Doyle appeared for years with Tom Thumb's widow, who died in 1919. He was a belligerent little man, three feet nine inches tall, who wouldn't hesitate to tangle with Man-Mountain Dean or Primo Canera when he had his dander up.

Citizens who deplore our later-day tendency to worry a sensational story to rags and tatters, who bemoan our loss of all sense of relative values, who shudder with our unbecomingly coveting over murder trials, stunting and love tangles, will do well to look through the files of 1863.

On February 21 of that year, the New York Illustrated News devoted 23 columns to the Tom Thumb wedding, with a big splash of woodcuts by distinguished artists. The town regularly and reserves fighting back the crowds around the church. The bride and groom were showered with expensive gifts, among the donors being Mrs. John Jacob Astor, August Belmont, James Gordon Bennett and Horace Greeley.

General, financiers, statesmen, stage and social celebrities were in attendance, among them being General Ambrose Everett Burnside, he of the copyrighted side whiskers, who, a few weeks later was to be relieved of his command of the Army of the Potomac—and a few meager paragraphs on the inside pages about the life-and-death struggle of the nation.

Read a round or two of that gargantuan outgiving of elegant blather, of lace-curtain language, of hysterical hokey, and rejoice in the dignity, sanity, well-bred reserve and thorough good taste of the wildest, gaudiest and loudest scandal sheet of today.

W have come a long way, not in journalistic practice alone, but in our public attitude toward unfortunate human oddities. I quote a random account of the theatrical booking business.

"Freaks aren't what they used to be," he said. "The crowd don't go for them. Just a few months ago, I was trying to book a living skeleton, who, as late as ten or twelve years ago, was one of the best bets out on the kerosene circuit. Nobody would give him a tumble. You take the old time pitchmen—they can do the trend in the show business better than anybody in it. To a man they tell me that the freaks are no good any more. People seem uneasy when they are looking at them."

"There are about 400 midgets in this country. They seem to get by a little better than the other freaks, but they are having a hard time. It's tough on the midgets. They're more apt to be regular people than the giants. I just about break my arm trying to book them when they come along, but I can't do much. People know too much these days. They're on to this gland business and all that, and no speller can get away with the old line of ballyhoo."

Evidence of a net gain in popular decency is the fact that it is an instance of the super-normal which has stimulated this generation to unheard of interest and excitement, rather than one of those unhappy variations from the normal which used to enthrall us in the past.

Altogether wholesome is the public yen for a glimpse of the little Dionne girls and our hunger for news of them. Seventy-five years ago, Barnum surely would have had them. Consider the circus he would have made of them, and then consider their scientifically safeguarded rearing. And in this connection, your correspondent reports that every man, woman and child he has talked to backs up Dr. Dionne in his refusal to let them be taken to the World's Fair.

Seven Liquor Law Violators Found Guilty

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—Seven men accused of operating a liquor ring in Butler and Westmoreland counties were found guilty Thursday of violating the internal revenue laws by a federal court jury.

Sentence was deferred pending arguments on a motion for a new trial for all the defendants next Tuesday. Placed on trial before federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker late yesterday, the case went into the hands of the jury last night.

Operated Still
The defendants are Joseph Grossman, Greensburg; John Cheswick, Pittsburgh; Charles Hilderbrand, Donegal township, Butler county; Batisti Gonella, New Kensington; Joseph Janetha, Jr., and Joseph Janetha, Sr., of Apollo, and Edward Singel, of Arnold. Andrew Verbocky, another defendant, pleaded guilty before the trial started and George Hilderbrand, son of Charles Hilderbrand, was acquitted by a directed verdict.

The government contended that the men manufactured and distributed illicit liquor from two stills in Butler county. Charles Hilderbrand, on whose farm one of the stills was said to have been operated, denied any knowledge of its operation, saying that he was in a hospital at the time of the alleged offense.

Three Killed In Spectacular Crash In New York City

Taxi Driver And Two Women Killed, Man Injured, Cab Sideswipes Truck

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A taxi driver, who carried a rabbit's foot for luck, and two women passengers met instant death Thursday in one of New York's most spectacular traffic crashes.

The driver, tentatively identified as Joseph Bock, was piloting his cab southward along Lexington avenue in uptown New York. In the cab were two women passengers, still unidentified, and a male passenger, Michael McCarthy.

Proceeding north, loaded with steel hangar doors from North Beach Airport, was a huge truck driven by Alfred Sappah, of Park Ridge, N. J. The doors extended 30 inches over each side of the truck.

As Sappah veered his truck to avoid a parked car, the oncoming cab sideswiped his vehicle. The steel doors on the truck sliced off the entire top of the taxi, nearly decapitating the driver. The cab rushed on, mounted a curbing and crashed into a machine shop.

When police reached the scene they found Bock bent over his wheel, dead. In the rear seat lay the two women passengers, both dead. McCarthy had been thrown to the sidewalk when the cab came to a stop and was taken to a hospital.

The truck driver was held for questioning.

Air Raid Warning Startles London

Hundred Shrieking Sirens Suddenly Blast City In Warning Thursday

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—Thousands of Londoners were startled Thursday when 100 shrieking sirens suddenly blasted the city's first "mass air raid" warning.

The test was conducted to try out the efficiency of London's air raid precautions, upon which authorities have worked unceasingly since the German-Czech crisis. Failure of the experiment in several metropolitan districts was revealed by a check-up. Additional sirens will have to be installed to make the warning system perfect, officials said.

In the largest test of the air raid protection devices great Britain has yet seen, the sirens were mounted on the roofs of police stations. They sounded at full blast for two minutes in a fluctuating high-pitched moan signifying: "raiders approaching."

Despite newspaper warnings of the approaching test, thousands of Londoners were bewildered, gazing apprehensively up at the skies. The siren warning was followed five minutes later by a two-minute long uninterrupted blast which signified: "raiders passed."

Capitol Limited Provides Thrill

Just for the thrill of it, motor out to the new Edinburg viaduct sometime—about 12:15 a. m.—and see the streamlined Capitol Limited, the pride of the Baltimore & Ohio, flash by. It's a swell show from the overhead bridge.

Last night the east-bound Capitol, its amber-tinted headlights penetrating the fog, shot past at 12:30. For an instant you could marvel at the beautiful train.

On a clear night it would be a better show! Edinburg viewers see the limited at full speed—not for long, but they see it!

Fascists can train kids to like discipline, but we can't train them to like liberty. They like it too darned well now.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

EDITORIAL

On Tuesday the students of Ne-Ca-Hi carried their report cards. In some cases, signs of surprise accompanied the return of the grades to the students; some were happy, others were not happy—but on the whole each person expected the letter grade he or she received. This day may be compared to "pay-day" at a business concern.

Those students who completed their required work or worked overtime and did outside studying received marks recognizing their effort. Those who did not do all their requirements, loafed or neglected their duties, were paid "in full" according to their incomplete effort. Those who "made hay while the sun shone," and worked regularly during the report period rested assured they would not need to fret over their report, whereas some of the loafers were insulted when presented a grade deserved.

However, we must remember that excellent grades do not measure a student's brilliance; that many students who are not on the honor roll know more affairs of life including politics, finance, nature, etc., than the high honor students.

If a pupil strives for a high grade and fails, he need not be discouraged; he need only refer to Thomas Edison, one of the most brilliant men of our country, who was the dullest pupil in the class, to prove that classroom knowledge is not a zenith. Yet the education, which a book gives us, places us in a position to cope with problems, theoretically solved in books, and better acquainted with mentally untapped resources.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club met Tuesday in room 118. The meeting was opened by President Emily Lou Kleckner. She appointed the following committee to meet with a committee from the German Club to arrange a Question Box between the two clubs which will be held January 3. This committee is composed of Emily Lou Kleckner, chairman; Wilma Warsow, and Robert Croyenstam. The club then elected the following people for their team: Mary Louise Mesman, Helen Love, Edward Portney, James Rucker, Rose Costa and Dorothy Stewart. The meeting was then turned over to Bette Delp who had charge of the program. Vanetta Houston and Marie Gray presented papers on the city of Orleans. The remainder of the period was spent in a conversation game played in French.

President Tom Middleton called to order the weekly meeting of the Sophomore Hi-Y on Wednesday evening. Darrel Johnson was in charge of devotionals. Upon recommendation by the club members the following boys were added to the Hi-Y: Joe Burns and George Jackson. The program committee for the month includes Albert Marangoni, Joe Burns and Earl Carr.

JUNIOR HI-Y

The Junior Hi-Y club met Tuesday December 6, at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was called to order by President Francis Kennedy and Jim Shaffer led the club in devotionals.

A special membership drive was arranged to be carried on at the Senior High school Monday, December 12. John Ray Parker and Francis Kennedy were appointed to take care of the details and be in charge of the committee which is to take care of boys who wish to join. The meeting was closed with a friendship circle.

SENIOR A MEETING

The Senior A class met Friday, December 9, and were enjoyably entertained by a representative from Youngstown College who spoke about some of the outstanding merits of his institution. The class president, Glenn Gordon then announced that the Senior A basketball team of Ne-Ca-Hi will meet the Senior A team of Butler High at Butler Wednesday, December 14. The class treasurer, Don Wimer, then gave a financial report. The rest of the meeting was devoted to the discussion of class day and the possibilities of a theme.

ASSEMBLIES

The Special Public Speaking class under the supervision of Mrs. Matheny presented a debate concerning the subject, "Received." That the United States should establish an alliance with Great Britain. The first debate was presented Wednesday with Harvey Lewis as first negative, Tom Gravenstreeter as second negative, Helene Edgar as first affirmative and Russel Minick as second affirmative. The judges were Miss Maxwell, Mr. Lengerman, and Miss Elliot.

The second debate was presented Thursday with Bill Fish as first negative, Jane Hay as second negative, Paul Shifman as first affirmative and Mel Baderschneider as second affirmative. The judges were Miss Bartlett, Mr. Copson, and Mr. Cassillo.

This was the first debate given in many years in the Ne-Ca-Hi auditorium and was thoroughly enjoyed by the students and faculty.

SENIOR ROMANUS PARTY

Senatus Romanus held a party Thursday night in the cafeteria of the Senior High School, in honor of the January graduates who are members of the Latin Club. The honored guests present were: Marion Brown, Rose Costa, Samuel Davy, Marian Hildebrand, Helen Love, Doreatha Stewart, Maxine Tompkins, Warren White and Nell Young. Some of the games prepared by the committee in charge were: an exciting treasure hunt with everyone receiving a treasure, a match box race "from nose to nose," a balloon race, musical chairs, and various other active games. The worthy senators rested themselves with Chinese Checkers, modern and classical guessing contests, and "pick up sticks."

The members then indulged in a pastime common to all ages. They sat down to tables, decorated with Christmas candles, chocolate Santa Claus favors, and gay colored bowls of Christmas candies. Simple refreshments of hot spiced cider and cookies were served.

The very efficient committees were under the leadership of Helen McCommon, general chairman. Dorothy Hayes had charge of invitations; Kathryn Wilson, refreshments; Gladys Reed, Helen Singer, Ed. Portney and Irwin Masters prepared the games. The treasures for the hunt and the instructions for finding them were provided by Helen McCommon and Maxine Gilliland. Miss Ola D. Rogers and Miss Mary E. Van Divort, of the high school faculty were invited to share in the festivities and twenty-five members of the club were present.

SENIOR HI-Y

The Senior Hi-Y assembled in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening. Due to the absence of President "Axel" Woolcock, Glenn Gordon took charge of the meeting as president pro-tempore. Chalmers Sproull led in the devotionals.

Ed Portney, who along with Chuck Ashton represented the Senior Hi-Y at the conference at OH City, Pa., gave a report on the procedure of the conference which was successfully held last week. It was announced that the Induction Services will be conducted Sunday evening at 7:15 in the Central Presbyterian church. In the football contest, Mor-ton Lovel's team scored two more touchdowns over Merritt Reynolds' team. The score is now 18-0.

SENIUS ROMANUS

The Senatus Romanus met in the cafeteria on Tuesday with Consul Primus Sam Davy presiding. Helen McCommon reported on the party. Miss Mary Van Divort then gave a report on the Senatus Romanus Christmas pencils.

There are six gay-colored pencils in a Christmas pencil. Each pencil has a good lead and a good eraser. They are the most talked-about thing in the school now.

The meeting was closed after a game or two and some songs lead by Rose Costa.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council met Wednesday with President Dan Woolcock in charge. Dean Dufford called the roll and Virginia Fredericks read the minutes of the previous meeting. A report from the social committee was submitted by Chairman Howard Lyon. Llewellyn Daniels and Kay Francis were added to the newspaper committee.

It was moved by Audrey Bridenbaugh that Council act through the Home Room Representatives in promoting a campaign relative to students becoming more law abiding. This campaign is to be carried through by the good citizenship club and is to be entirely under student supervision.

Council plans to get an early start next semester by having their members elected before the end of this term. All council members will be located in one home room.

Miss Marjorie Rhodes was the supervisor pro tempore. Next week the class president will convene with council at their regular meeting. The meeting was then adjourned.

The Girls' Athletic Club held their weekly meeting in the gymnasium, third period on Tuesday. President Dorothy Metzler called the meeting to order and business was discussed. Miss Margaret Fischer then read the names of the various drills that are to be given in the coming demonstration, and the times at which they were to be practiced during the week. The remainder of the period was spent in practicing Indian-club drills and square dancing.

Odd Punishment Is Meted Out To Traffic Violator

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9. — Death lies in wait on every country road and city street.

This was part of a 100-word passage which City Judge James F. Nangle recently ordered Miss Helen Henry, attractive 18-year-old post-graduate high school student, to copy from a safety pamphlet ten times to impress upon her the seriousness of violating traffic laws.

Miss Henry was charged with driving through a traffic signal. She pleaded "not guilty," testifying that the sun was in her eyes and she was following a street car and, therefore, did not see the red light.

Contents Of Passage
Judge Nangle ordered Miss Henry to mail the ten copies of the passage to him within a week. The passage follows:

"Death lies in wait on every country road and city street. He shows no leniency toward the young nor does he have respect for the infirmities of age. Two important facts stand out when the figures in this table are compared with the 1936 experience. One is alarming the other is encouraging.

"First, deaths in automobile-bicycle collisions increased again last year. The practical problem needs attention. Second, despite an increase in deaths this year, there was a decrease in fatalities among children from 5 to 14 years of age. This is a fine tribute to safety education in the schools."

Judge Nangle ordered Miss Henry to mail the ten copies of the passage to him within a week. The passage follows:

"Death lies in wait on every country road and city street. He shows no leniency toward the young nor does he have respect for the infirmities of age. Two important facts stand out when the figures in this table are compared with the 1936 experience. One is alarming the other is encouraging.

"First, deaths in automobile-bicycle collisions increased again last year. The practical problem needs attention. Second, despite an increase in deaths this year, there was a decrease in fatalities among children from 5 to 14 years of age. This is a fine tribute to safety education in the schools."

Report Dickson Is Seen In Iowa

Man And Wife Sought By Officers Believed To Be In Iowa

(International News Service)
OTTUMWA, Ia., Dec. 9.—Benny Dickson, 30, and his blonde wife, Estelle, who eluded officers in chases across several middlewestern states in the last two weeks, were reported seen in Ottumwa today.
A private estate caretaker told Sheriff C. E. Harding that he saw a man and woman, who resembled pictures of the hunted pair, in an automobile parked on a residential street.
"A second man was reported sitting in the rear seat of the car with a gun over his knees.
The unidentified caretaker said the head of the man resembling Dickson was bandaged.
Their automobile was brightly polished but the license plates were caked with mud and could not be distinguished, the caretaker said.
It was believed the car headed northwest out of Ottumwa toward Okaloosa.
Dickson and his young wife are wanted in Michigan on federal kidnapping charges and in South Dakota for questioning in connection with two bank robberies.

(International News Service)
SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Dec. 9.—Fred Barnes, 39, former Oklahoma convict, and Wesley Eudy, 32, former Texan, were to be executed today in California's new lethal gas chamber.

The two men will pay the extreme penalty for their part in the Folsom prison escape plot in which Warden Clarence Larkin was murdered.

The bride of a few weeks noticed that her husband was depressed. "Ernest, dearest," she said, "I know there is something troubling you, and I want you to tell me what it is; your worries are not your worries now—they are our worries."

Hitler Refuses To Talk Colonies

South African Defense Minister Never Has Chance To Talk Colonies

LEAVES CONTINENT WITH FOREBODING

(International News Service)
LONDON Dec. 9.—Returning home from a series of diplomatic conferences in England and on the continent, Oswald Pirow, South African defense minister, left Europe today with a feeling of "almost unqualified anxiety."

Contributing to Pirow's pessimism, it was revealed, was an abrupt snub by Chancellor Hitler, which cut short their recent talk at Berchtesgaden and terminated Pirow's proposal for an international refugee conference even before he had a chance to bring up the matter.

Hitler's discouraging remark, made early in their interview was:

"Are you authorized to make me a concrete offer regarding colonies? If not, I am not prepared for an exploratory discussion with you."

Pirow had gone to see Dr. Fischer merely to sound him out, and lacked authorization to make any definite colonial offers.

With his mission a failure, gloom over international affairs increased. The Italo-French trouble is regarded seriously in Whitehall, already disturbed over attacks on Britain in the German press.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, it was learned, holds fast to hopes for early settlement. Pirow stated, before departure:

"One gleam of hope in my mind is the fact that Prime Minister Chamberlain will spare no effort to secure a lasting basis for peace. His phenomenal success at Munich encourages one to believe he may also save the present situation."

Files Divorce Suit Against "Dixie" Davis

RENO, Nev., Dec. 9.—Martha Delaney Davis filed suit for divorce today in Reno against J. Richard ("Dixie") Davis, confessed New York policy racketeer who turned state's evidence against James J. Hines, Tammany leader.

When her case comes up for trial behind closed doors later today, Mrs. Davis said she will testify that she and Davis were incompatible.

Concerning Davis' infatuation for Hope Dare, former show girl, Mrs. Davis has repeatedly said since her arrival in Reno six weeks ago that Miss Dare did not break up her home.

"However," she said, "if he loves her more than he does me I'm not going to stand between them. Who am I to say they shouldn't be together?"

Davis, known as "the kid mouth-piece," was attorney for the late "Dutch Schultz" Flegenheimer, slain racketeer. Mrs. Davis has consistently refused to discuss her husband's connection with the Dutch Schultz gang and will not even mention the Hines case.

She and Davis married in New York City Sept. 21, 1932, when she was a department store clothes model.

ON THE WAY
Mrs. Curtin was waiting dinner for her husband, whom she expected back from town every minute. Suddenly out in the road a donkey brayed. The old lady, a little deaf, smiled.

"Run and serve dinner, Nora," she cried. "The master is coming down the road. I'd know his hearty laugh anywhere."

Wheeler Warns Against Purge

Calls For United Democratic Party In Appeal Against Revenge Tactics

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Calling for a united Democratic party, Senator Wheeler (D) Montana, today warned President Roosevelt revival of his purge tactics against members "who occasionally think for themselves" will doom the party in 1940.

A leader of the congressional bloc that defeated the president's supreme court enlargement program, Wheeler urged Democrats to close ranks behind a liberal legislative program. He declared the middle class is swinging away from the Democratic party.

"Everyone who is interested in the success of the Democratic party and in seeing constructive, liberal legislation enacted into law, and in seeing liberal legislation already on the statute books remain there," Wheeler said, "should work the next two years to unite, rather than to divide the party."

"If the attempt is going to be continued to proscribe those senators who think occasionally for themselves and are not made coalitarians, the Democratic party will be doomed in 1940."

Wheeler said the recent elections demonstrated that the Democratic party is losing the support of the middle class.

"This election has proven that this still is a middle class country and you can't take the people any further than you can take the middle class with you," he said.

"Rightly or wrongly, the middle class, to a very large extent, voted against the Democratic party in the last election."

Protest Layoffs In State W. P. A.

Pennsylvania Federation Of Labor Strongly Protests Movement

LABOR LEADER
SENDS TELEGRAM

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—Labor staunchly opposed any slash in the state's WPA rolls today as the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor protested strongly against a proposed lay-off of thousands of WPA workers.

In a telegram to WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, James L. Mc-Devitt, president of the Pennsylvania federation, urged that the quota prevailing in October of this year, which cared for a maximum number of WPA workers, be maintained.

McDevitt thus joined Lt.-Gov.
Thomas Kennedy, acting in the absence of Gov. George H. Earle, who is in France, in supporting an attempt to protect the WPA program in Pennsylvania. Kennedy, who is also secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, protested strongly to Hopkins that the curtailment would be likely to seriously impede recovery progress in the state.

McDevitt telegraphed Hopkins that "the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor is unalterably opposed to the curtailment of the WPA program in Pennsylvania."

"Private industry," the telegram stated, "is not in a position to absorb any appreciable number of the thousands now idle through the recent lay-off on WPA work. We urgently request you to immediately increase the present quota to that prevailing in October of this year."

Negroes Sing While Awaiting Electric Chair

Six Negroes Will Be Executed
Tonight In Georgia Prison
—Two Reprived

(International News Service)
TATNALL PRISON, Reidsville, Ga., Dec. 9.—Six negroes, condemned to die in the electric chair today in the largest mass execution in the history of the state prison, spent their final hours in singing negro spirituals and praying.
Eight originally were scheduled to die today but two—a white man and a negro—were given reprieves.
The six condemned men had their last "big meal" last night. The prisoners were allowed to choose their menu. Some chose steaks, others chicken. For dessert they had one of the favorites of the old South, sweet potato pie.
With the meal over the negroes listened to the prison quartet as they sang hymns and spirituals, and two negro preachers, one of them an inmate of the prison, gave them spiritual comfort.

Unsolved Case May Be Reopened

Sensational Turn In Murder Of Mrs. Verna Carr Taylor Is Indicated

"NOT KILLED BY GEN. DENHART"

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 9.—Reopening of the still unsolved slaying of Mrs. Verna Carr Taylor was under consideration by the attorney general's office today.

The mysterious case was revived yesterday with a statement by a brother of the beautiful widow that she had not been killed by her fiancee, Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt.

The World War hero and prominent Kentucky political leader was shot to death by Mrs. Taylor's three brothers on the eve of his second trial for her murder. The first trial had ended in a deadlocked jury and it was believed that the Gars had taken the matter into their own hands in fear he would be acquitted.

Two of the Gars were subsequently cleared of any criminal guilt in the killing and the case against Dr. E. S. Garr, the eldest brother, was dropped.

Dr. Garr yesterday created a sensation with the statement to Attorney General Hubert Meredith that he had "material evidence" tending to show Gen. Denhardt had not fired the fatal bullets the night Mrs.
Taylor was shot in his car.

The La Grange, Ky. veterinarian, added, however, that Denhardt had been in league with the actual killer.
He refused to explain his statement further, but said he intended investigating the case himself and "when I get the full story it will blow the roof off the courthouse."

Dr. Garr asserted the person or persons involved in the plot who were still alive had made several attempts on the lives of himself and his brothers.

Chief Clerk Is Dismissed Today

Stanley K. Bennett Regarded Chief Witness In "Consent Verdicts" Fired

GRAND JURY WILL FINISH SATURDAY

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 9.—Chief Clerk Stanley K. Bennett of the city law department, regarded as the key witness in the current grand jury investigation of the $375,000 consent verdict scandal, was fired today.

"I gave Bennett the opportunity to resign and he stated he felt he could not resign at this time and so I fired him," explained City Solicitor William Alvah Stewart.

Most of the consent verdicts against the city arranged without jury trials passed through Bennett's office and his refusal to speak freely before a bar association committee precipitated the present grand jury quiz. His dismissal came as the grand jury was hearing the last few witnesses preparatory to consider the question of indictments.

Seek Indictments
With the revelation that many of the city's officers have bank accounts considerably in excess of their official incomes, and that borrowing by these same officials from persons doing business with the city government was by no means a rare occurrence, it was expected today that numerous indictments would be forthcoming tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be the last day the grand jury may still return indictments against alleged offenders in the current probe. After 6 p. m. tomorrow night, the body loses its power to indict, although it may continue its investigations and make recommendations to the next grand jury.

Fire Department Salaries Adjusted

Council Passes Ordinance To Become Effective On January 1

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 9.—An ordinance introduced by E. S. Greenham, adjusting the salaries of the fire department employees and the street commissioner was passed at a meeting of the borough council on Thursday evening in the council chambers of the city building.

The new rate to become effective January 1 is: Fire chief, $172 per month; drivers, $145 per month and street commissioner $172 per month. Rules were suspended and the ordinance passed on first and final reading after a long period of discussion in which it was brought out that the employees had been working a reduced rate.

All members were in favor of the action save Robert Curry who introduced a motion that all employees of the borough be given a ten per cent raise. The motion failed. It was also agreed to pass an ordinance which the janitors of the city building will be given a monthly raise of ten dollars.

A resolution, stating that borough employees owing public debts, and making no efforts to pay them, would be notified to pay such bills, was unanimously passed.

Much of the meeting was devoted to needs and requirement of the fire department. A recommendation that 10 helmets at a price of $8.50 each be purchased was given to the fire and finance committee for a report. A recommendation of the fire committee that the council president appoint a committee to have the police and fire chiefs investigate the installation of a fire alarm system in the city was passed.

A request of the Steel Car Forge company to lay a private line to the fire station that would show their automatic signals was granted. The entire expense of the line and investigation of signals will be borne by the company.

Bids for 550 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose for the fire department were opened and will be studied by the fire committee, who will make a report at a special meeting to be held in a week or so. There were nine bidders.

Four small fires occurred during the month of November with a total damage of $75.

In order that a number of projects might be submitted to the W. P. A. headquarters for approval, the rules and regulations were suspended and a number of ordinances passed for the grading and paving of streets. Streets passed was Hillside avenue from Second to Fifth street; Madison avenue extension; and a portion of College street. It was emphasized by the finance committee that the work would be started only at such a time as finances permitted. An ordinance establishing the center grade line of Hazen avenue was also passed.

A communication from the State Department of Health relative to the sewage disposal treatment was referred to the health committee.

A request of H. C. Boots that local trucks be used on W. P. A. jobs in this vicinity will be sent to Harrisburg, where the assignments are made.

Letters from Warren Thorpe, Jr., and Daniel Szabo, reporting damages to their automobiles from street conditions were given to the street committee for investigation.

New Wilmington Grange Host To Pomona Grange

Monthly Meeting Takes Place In United Presbyterian Church On Wednesday

GOOD PROGRAM IS PRESENTED

New Wilmington Grange was host to the members of Lawrence County Pomona Grange at the monthly session on Wednesday, with Pomona Master W. Sharp Fullerton presiding.

The visitors were welcomed by Master Logan Buckwalter, master of New Wilmington grange, and the response was given by William Robinson, master of Mahoning Valley Grange.

The morning session was taken up with reports and routine business. John Boots, of Pleasant Valley Grange, was re-elected to membership on the executive committee, and Dale Currie, of East New Castle Grange, was elected a member of the finance committee.

The grange decided to meet on the first Saturday of the month during January, February and March.

The afternoon session opened with pep singing under the direction of the lecturer, Mrs. E. C. Wiggins.

Judge W. Walter Brahm was presented and gave an instructive address on "The law in a changing world." Harold R. McCulloch, county agent gave some timely hints on the care of poultry for producing more eggs and general care of farm equipment. He suggested that farm machinery should be checked during the winter months for needed repairs, so that valuable time might be saved in the spring and summer.

The grange members were then entertained by Miss Lucille Purdy, Junior of Westminster College, a talented reader, who gave three original readings.

The Pomona Home Economics committee, Mrs. Belle Hodge, chairman, presented ideas for Christmas decorations in and about the home.

Members of New Wilmington Grange gave an amusing one-act play, "Who gets the car tonight," which was well received.

Talks on what the various subordinate masters have learned during their year as master of the grange proved very interesting.

The next meeting of the Pomona Grange will take place in Willard Grange Hall, January 7.

LOOKING AHEAD

He was discussing the people around about with his old landlady.

"They seem kindly enough people," he remarked.

The landlady sniffed.

"You don't know them yet," she replied.

"Oh, come," protested the lodger.

"They're not bad. Why, the chap who's got a little workshop down the road was asking about you today. Said you'd been ailing a lot lately. Is he a relative of yours?"

"No," said the landlady, sharply, "he's the undertaker."

Correct this sentence: "I married for money," said she "but that isn't like selling yourself without marriage."

The Golden Text

Exodus 20:17—"Thou shalt not covet."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 11, is Exodus 20: 17; Luke 12: 13-21; 1 Timothy 6: 6-10, the Golden Text being Exodus 20: 17, "Thou shalt not covet.")

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON takes the last commandment, "Thou shalt not covet," and shows how this sin can not only make us very unhappy but can even make us commit a crime, like murder.

The commandment reads: "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's."

In these times we would add automobiles, smart clothes, etc. It takes an unselfish person to be glad others have nice things and not be envious. It is a spirit for which we must strive. Boys and girls, men and women, envy their neighbors' success in school, at games, in society, as well as tangible things like clothes and automobiles.

The lesson tells of Jesus being approached by a man who asked Him to speak to his brother and make him divide up his inheritance with him. Jesus' answer to that was, "an, who made me a judge or divider over you?" And then He said: "Take heed, and beware of covetousness; for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

Then He spoke a parable to them, telling them about a man who was blessed with abundant crops. He had so much he hardly knew what to do with it. So he said to himself that he would tear down his barns and build larger ones. Then he would make a great feast and say to his soul, "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry."

But God told him he was foolish to talk like that. That very night his soul might be required of him, and then what good would the abundant harvest do him?

Later on in the lesson, Paul tells us that he believes money is the root of all evil. It can be the root of a great deal of good, we know, if we use it to good ends and do not just hoard it for its own sake.

In 1 Kings, the 21st chapter, is told the sad story of Ahab, who committed murder that he might get his neighbor's vineyard which he coveted. Ahab was king of Samaria, and his wife's name was Jezebel. They had a vineyard that Ahab wanted. He asked Naboth to sell it to him, either for money or for another vineyard. But Naboth had inherited it from his people and did not want to part with it.

After talking to Naboth, Ahab went home very disappointed and angry. He threw himself on his bed and refused to eat his evening meal. His wife asked him what the matter was, and when he told her, she said, "Arise and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry. I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."

Then what did this wicked woman do but write some letters in her husband's name and sign them with his seal. In them she told certain ones to proclaim a fast and set Naboth on high among the people. Then she told them to have two men come and say, "Naboth does blaspheme God and the King." Then she said they should take Naboth out and stone him to death.

Well, it was all done as she directed, and poor Naboth had no chance to defend himself, but was killed and his vineyard given to Ahab.

But Elisha, the prophet, heard of it, and he told Ahab that because he had allowed Jezebel to do this thing he would die in his chariot and the dogs should lick his blood, and Jezebel should also die a dreadful death. Ahab tore his clothes, put on sackcloth next his flesh, fasted and lay in sack-cloth, and "went softly." So genuinely sorry did he seem that Elisha said he would not punish him, but his son should suffer, and Jezebel should die as he said.

It all came to pass as Elisha prophesied. The son died in battle and Jezebel was killed by enemies of her son, even as it was spoken. So you see to what lengths people may go when they become covetous, and how possession of what they covet may bring them much misery instead of joy.

Babson Sees President And Next Congress In Deadlock On Issues

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1938, Publishers' Financial Bureau)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—A whole month has slipped by since the elections; Congress will convene in less than another month. Hence, this is an ideal time for readers to look both backward and forward. What happened at the polls last month was a tremendous surprise to many people. They had come to believe that Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal were something permanent. They felt that they were not subject to the same fundamental Law of Action and Reaction that applies to all spheres of human activity. They were, therefore, astounded by the huge New Deal losses in November.

The election can be explained this way: The American people have been sick for a number of years. F. D. Roosevelt has been the family doctor but he has refused to consult another doctor when some of the family desired it. On November 8, the family decided to call in another doctor. They did not discharge Dr. Roosevelt but they voted not to leave things entirely up to him. They appreciate the various shots-in-the-arm which he has provided. Nevertheless, the American people are intelligent enough to know that the many brands of New Deal spend-and-lead therapy are not attacking the illness at its source.

What Can New Doctor Do?
Hence, another doctor on the job should have a good psychological effect, even though the second physician is probably not in a position now to prescribe any fundamentally different treatment. In fact, in my opinion, the Republicans in the recent campaign did not sufficiently hold up to the voters the real dangers of the New Deal remedies. Because I have from time to time been a critic of certain Roosevelt policies, I am not blind to the fact that the Republicans, to date, have little better to offer.

It is sheer guess work now to speculate on the outcome of the 1940 elections. I am a statistician, not a political soothsayer. Hence, I am not now making any guesses, but I will say this: If the Republicans are victorious in 1940, it is quite possible that they will be fired out in 1944.

Why? Because there is nothing in sight to solve our major problems. It is true that we are now seeing better business—much better business than a year ago. Moreover, I am optimistic on the outlook for 1939 in all major lines. Better business, however, will not solve our problems. It will not solve the farm problem. It is clear to me that the Republicans, like Secretary Wallace, have no solution of the farm issue, except to give bigger and wider handouts to the farmers.

Can G. O. P. End Unemployment?
Furthermore, I am tremendously concerned over the too rapidly growing menace of technological unemployment. The last few years have seen amazing strides in labor-saving machinery and improved industrial processes. Where a decade ago we were worried over what seemed to be a permanent jobless total of three million, today we see little chance of this figure dropping below five million. The WPA has been fighting a losing battle against our scientists and inventors. How are Republicans going to work out this riddle?

Turning now to the incoming Congress, I believe that it will accomplish little or nothing constructive. The spend-and-lead program will go forward in a new phase. This time it will be an armament schedule which will mortgage our future to the tune of more billions. I call this a "pump-priming" of the heavy industries. Apart from this, however, a do-nothing session is inevitable. The Republicans and Conservative Democrats can spike any further New Deal experiments. To this extent the outlook is favorable. It means that there will be a breathing spell from reforms and legislative rabbits-from-a-hat during 1939.

President Retains Veto
On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt's veto power gives him the whip-hand over any anti-New Deal legislation which might be enacted. He can always count on at least one-third of the membership in both branches as dyed-in-the-wool New Dealers.

Hence, it will be impossible to pass a bill over this veto. There will, therefore, be little chance of any repeal or major amendments to the body of New Deal legislation now on the statute books. For example, despite the rising tide of feeling against the Wagner Act, there is little chance of any major change in this measure at the next session unless Mr. Roosevelt agrees to the change.

To sum up: I believe the election results will be a strong psychological aid to business during 1939, and perhaps even in 1940. By the latter time, however, unless the United States turns to the Right and unless the Four Power Pact prevents a European explosion, I believe we will be in for real trouble. Another four years of Roosevelt might well ruin the United States for one or two generations. Our problem is not one of politics. It is not one of economics. It is a spiritual issue. The American people can be saved only by a revival of the Golden Rule and the Ten Commandments.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—Political parties in America being as cooperative in their powers as they are, the Democratic party in Pennsylvania is wasting no time in repairing its political fences for next year. Ahead of it are the municipal elections of 1939 and 1940, the latter when a new house, half the senate, and two state fiscal officers will be elected.

David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman, wasted very little time in condolences over the results of this year's statewide elections. Hardly were the results counted than Democratic party leaders were called together in Pittsburgh to discuss the why and whereof of the defeat and the plans for the future.

At Philadelphia, one of the Democratic bright spots in this year's election, John B. Kelly, Democratic city leader, will see party leaders immediately following his return from an ocean trip.

Hager, former deputy secretary of agriculture and now state director of the agriculture conservation committee. Also E. G. King, of King's Farms, Bucks county, and Warren Whitler, a farm manager, of Berks county.

Whoever is chosen for secretary of agriculture will first have to meet the close scrutiny of a certain district farmer by the name of James F. Torrance who also happens to be Republican state chairman.

One of the choice positions in the next legislature is that of chief clerk of the house, the position now held by Thomas J. Callahan, Luzerne Democrat. He will be succeeded by a Republican. Prominently mentioned for the post is William P. Roan, also from Luzerne county, who served in the house from 1931 to 1935. Roan is a Plymouth merchant and was borough controller for ten years. If chosen, Roan will be the third successive chief clerk from Luzerne county, Callahan having been preceded by the late William P. Gallagher of Wilkes-Barre.

Talk is being heard in Capitol circles of the possibility of three blocs operating in the next senate—Democratic, Independent Democratic and Republican. The Independent Democratic bloc, it is rumored, may be headed by Sen. Anthony Cavalcante, Fayette county Democrat, who failed to obtain the position of Democratic floor leader to which he aspired. A Democratic caucus chose Sen. Harry Shapiro of Philadelphia instead. Those who voted for Cavalcante and who might help make up the Independent Democratic bloc included Senators Samuel L. Gilson, Erie; John J. Haluska, Cambria; J. Albert Reed, Washington; Bernard G. McGinnis, Allegheny; P. J. Henney, Allegheny; William J. Eroe, Lawrence; H. Jerome Japian, Philadelphia; and John H. Dent, Westmoreland.

Generally speaking, any peafowl is called a peacock, whether male or female. Strictly speaking, however, only the male should be called a peacock. The female is properly called a peahen. Peafowl is the proper word to apply to the birds when speaking of them generally, without reference to sex. The young fowls are known as peacocks.

Thomas Edison developed the basis dictating machine in 1887, but its use was not widespread in business offices until 20 or 30 years later.

Republican State Committee Files Expenses Report

Report Shows Expenses Of $718,121.93 And Expenditures Of $716,649.82

GOVERNOR JAMES REPORTS $343.66

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—As the deadline approached, the Republican State committee Thursday filed an accounting with the State Elections Bureau showing receipts of $718,121.93 and expenditures of $716,649.82 for its successful 1938 election campaign activities.

All but about $60,000 of this amount, a G.O.P. spokesman said, could be applied on the general election campaign that ended November 8.

The state committee reported $39,721.31 still owed, and $183,250 in loans outstanding. Of its total expenditures, $363,220.06 went to county Republican committees and local organizations, and the state body itself expended $334,774.93. The report covered the period from Nov. 25, 1937, to Dec. 5, 1938.

No Contributions

Gov.-elect Arthur H. James himself reported no contributions and expenditures of $343.66.

U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, Republican, reported receipts of $7850, of which $7,000 was from the Republican National committee, and expenditures of $9,510.62, in his successful campaign for re-election.

Dr. Leo C. Mundy, defeated Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor, said he had received $905 and spent $920.50. The lieutenant-governor-elect, Samuel S. Lewis, Republican, reported no receipts and expenditures of $412.

William S. Livengood, Jr., Republican elected secretary of internal affairs, had receipts of $315 and expenditures of $1332.

The Pennsylvania Protective union, through its treasurer, Thomas R. Bell, Jr., stated it received $1700 and spent $4118.82, including $4,000 from the Republican finance committee of Pennsylvania. Its report showed $11,154.33 still owed for printing. A report from the American Federation of Labor committee for political action of Allegheny county showed receipts of $5063, of which $5,000 was from the Allegheny County Democratic committee, and expenditures of $4,991.21.

Mahoning Road Work Progress Being Noted

Extensive Re-Building Project Under Way On Union Township Street

Pine progress is being noted in the re-building task now under way on Mahoning road, or Matilda avenue, in Union township.

Work of re-building this street was started sometime ago by the township road supervisors, working in cooperation with the WPA.

Within a few days, the workmen will have completed the laying of a broken stone base. After this base is in place a fine stone and earth surface will be applied.

Sometime ago, the residents of the street talked of having this street surfaced with asphalt. The cost of the asphalt in a project of this kind would be assessed to the property owner and the work furnished by the WPA. However nothing definite was done along this line and an earth surface will therefore be placed on the street.

Frankie Moran On Milk Fund Fistic Docket

All Bouts Arranged For Exchange Club's Show Here Monday

SEVEN LAWRENCE COUNTY BOYS BOOKED

MONDAY'S CALENDAR
Babe Retardo, Ellwood City, vs Jimmy Jones, Youngstown; 112 pounds.
Benny Bartle, Ellwood City, vs Sharkey Schreckengost, New Brighton; 147 pounds.
Nick Retardo, Ellwood City, vs Tony Roma, McKeesport; 135 pounds.
Jack Virgelli, Butler, vs Jack Rainey, McKeesport; 160 pounds.
Halbert Brooks, New Castle, vs Joe Devine, Alliance; 147 pounds.
Blackie Ferrar, New Castle, vs Billy Miller, Alliance; 130 pounds.
Frankie Moran, New Castle, vs Leo Seaborn, McKeesport; 126 pounds.
Mickie Rubin, New Castle, vs Dave Nemeth, Youngstown; 175 pounds.

Sixteen amateur boxers, each fired with an ambition to some day either wear an amateur championship or a professional crown, will meet in eight bouts in The Arena at 8:30 p. m. Monday. The fistic offering is sponsored by the Exchange club, local civic body, to raise funds with which to purchase milk for needy children.

It can be seen from the calendar that the most popular boxers in this section have been arranged against popular boxers from nearby cities. Seven of the fighters live in Lawrence county, one hails from Butler county and another from the Beaver valley. The other boxers hold residence in Youngstown, Alliance and McKeesport.

Rubin and Nemeth will appear in the last bout on the card. They are heavy punchers and no doubt there'll be plenty of thrills in the clash. In another battle the classy left-hander, Frankie Moran, will return to the ring to take on Leo Seaborn, a new-comer from McKeesport.

Jack Rainey of McKeesport fought a sensational scrap before he lost here recently and Jack Virgelli who gave Steve Morgan one of the best fights yet seen in The Arena, will meet in another scrap. They are middleweights and the bout should produce plenty of action.

The two Retardo boys will appear, Nick against Tony Roma and Babe against Jimmie Jones. This is the first time since the Jolly bowl closed that two brothers have been on the same card. In the Jolly bowl days the O'Leary boys vied with each other for the fancy of the crowd.

Some More Good Boys
Benny Bartle, Billy Miller and the other boxers on the card have boxed here and always gave the fans action and they have all asserted they will display their best ability when they answer the bell to raise funds for milk Monday night.

In speaking of the coming boxing show, Arthur Snow, chairman of the Exchange club, said that the club has carried on the work for more than a year and looks forward to a big turnout of people in all walks of life Monday.

"Milk supplies the vitamins that children need. It takes the place of greens, helps combat tuberculosis and aids in bone-building. Some children do not get enough milk. Our club proposes to do all it can for the needy folk," Snow said.

The Jefferson A. C. through Thomas Leach and Ed Fritz, will supervise the show.

WILL PLAY TONIGHT
The DeCaprio basketball team will go to Youngstown, O., tonight to meet the Arvin team at the Christ Mission gym floor. Coach Rags Genocack will have charge. The players will meet at the club rooms at 6 o'clock.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Ray Harrell, pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, has been sold to the Chicago Cubs. The purchase price was not made public. He won two and lost three games for the Cards in 1938, and won three and lost seven games in 1937. He has been with the Cardinal organization since 1933 but prior to 1937 was with "farm" clubs.

Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh scored his sixteenth consecutive victory last night in Pittsburgh. He won over Vincent Pimpinella of Brooklyn in a 10-round bout.

Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, was awarded the Edward J. Neil Memorial trophy by the New York boxing writers as the man who had done the most for boxing in 1938. Dempsey was named the first recipient of the award, presented in honor of the former Associated Press sports writer and war correspondent who was fatally wounded in Spain a year ago.

Joe Medwick is not for sale at any price according to Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals. Green Bay and New York will play for the professional football championship Sunday in New York City. Carnegie Tech downed Geneva in basketball last night in Beaver Falls, 4 to 2.

AMERICAN FLAG WILL FLY ALONE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The American flag fluttered alone Thursday at a winter sports show in Madison Square Garden. Flags of other nations represented in the ice carnival were hauled down after the management received numerous objections to the German swastika. Garden officials said they removed all but the stars and stripes because it would have been unfair to German contestants had only the Nazi flag been hauled down.

Titans Play Here Tonight

Westminster Battles New Castle Boosters At The Arena Court At 8:30 O'clock

N. Y. A. AND CIVICS TO PLAY PRELIM

Headlining tonight's sports calendar here is the Westminster college-New Castle Boosters basketball game carded for The Arena at 8:30 o'clock. The Titans come here with their entire squad of 15 cagers. Coach Washabaugh will likely use his entire roster. Eight of the athletes are six-footers or over. Ed Miller, playing his third year as a Titan, is exceptionally good on defense and deadly on set shots or flips under the hoops. He hails from New Brighton. Tom Patton is the only varsity regular in addition to Miller. This year's club is built around the two veterans from the '37-'38 quintet. Joseph Spak and Stanley Wasik, member of South high's championship teams, will start. Both are familiar with Washabaugh's man-for-man style of play, being introduced this year at the New Wilmington school.

Coach Fraser of the local team will send in his strongest lineup in the hope of annexing a victory over the well known Titans. The Boosters went through several hard workouts in preparation for the encounter.

In the preliminary game, at 7:30 o'clock, the Union Civics battle the N. Y. A. hoopers.

Old And New Titan Stars Will Clash Tuesday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 9.—Old and new Westminster basketball stars will clash in a pre-season practice tilt when Coach Grover Washabaugh's Titan varsity meets the Youngstown Sheet and Tube five in Youngstown's Boardman gym, on Tuesday evening, December 13.

Stars during John Lawther's coaching regime at Westminster, Ray Sweeney, Henry Hunkeler, Paul Ecker, John Krivosh and Andy Demo, will head the Sheet and Tube courtmen. Lone non-college man in the lineup will be Ronnie, a Youngstown product, and the Millmen's outstanding forward.

Hoping to pick a starting lineup from such practice games, Coach Washabaugh will probably use veterans Patton, West Middlesex and Miller, New Brighton, along with such fresh prospects as Spak, Wasik and Vellie of last year's state championship South high team of Pittsburgh. Ridl, former Norwin high captain; Wilson, all WPIAL McKeesport forward and C. Miller, Johnstown passing star.

The Titans open varsity competition with Geneva December 16, on the New Wilmington floor.

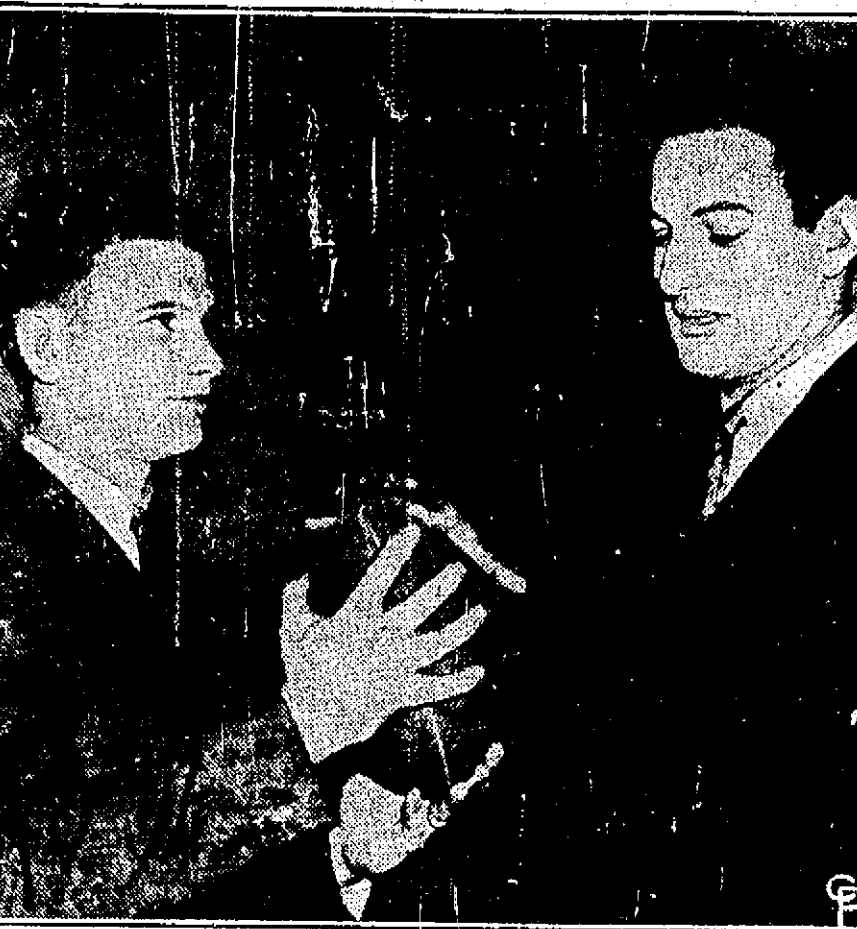

Tech Noses Out Geneva Passers

Coming back from behind, Carnegie Tech's fast basketball team eked out a 44-42 victory over Geneva College Thursday night at Beaver Falls.

The Skibos' sharp shooting at the charity mark gave them a victory over the Weismen.

Approximately 50,000 fans will witness the battle between the New York Giants and Green Bay Packers in New York Sunday for the national professional gridiron battle. Both teams worked out in the metropolis today.

Pair of Aces Compare Hands

Two of football's most brilliant forward passers, Davey O'Brien (left), of Texas Christian, and Sid Luckman, of Columbia, compare hands, as the All-America stars met. Davey was in New York to receive the Heisman Trophy, presented to the outstanding college football player in the United States.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Grover C. Washabaugh... Westminster college's popular head coach is one of the most interesting figures in the district. Washabaugh, who is in his second year as pilot of the New Wilmington school, has always enjoyed success. Last year, Westminster won 15 and lost 5 against a crop of major floor opponents, including Pitt, Villanova, George Washington and others. He was graduated from Connellsville high, where he was a versatile athlete. After completing his collegiate career at Indiana State teachers college, Washabaugh coached at Woodlawn high, 1919-1924 and then at South Hills, Pittsburgh. He then moved on to South High where he won three sectional basketball titles and two football crowns....

At Westminster, Washabaugh has changed John Lawther's zone-defenses with a man-to-man style of basketball. Again this year, the genial mentor will be blessed with the customary crop of six-shooters. Washabaugh carries a rabbit's foot and wears a green shirt for luck. He speaks with a slow drawl and has earned the "rep" for geniality, caustic and dry humor, for being an excellent sports psychologist and a brilliant basketball coach. He brings his 1938-1939 quintet here tonight to face the Boosters....

A second letter from Nick Uram, former New Castle high floor ace, now coach of Adams Township high school which battles Bessemer, Saturday night, reveals the fact that Adams recently tumbled Martinsburg, birthplace of a one Phil H. Bridenbaugh, local coach. Uram's starting lineup will include: Burt-nett and Freeberg, forward; Kuhn, center; Matsko and Burger, guard. The team will arrive in New Castle about noon Saturday and will spend the week end as guests of Coach Uram's mother, Atlantic avenue....

To Mickie Rodgers... The first Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney championship fight in Philadelphia, September 26, 1926, saw Tunney returned the winner and new champ in a ten round contest. A return meeting was staged in Chicago, September 22, 1927, with Tunney winning the 10 round decision. To Joe: Will have answers to your questions within a few days....

LOCKLEYS WILL HAVE FAST TEAM

The Lockleys will have a fast basketball team this year and are taking a franchise in the city basketball league for the balance of the season. The Locks will have a meeting at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Arena to organize.

The following are asked to attend the meeting Saturday: Fraser, Sharfer, Brown, Kennedy, McCann, Hubbard, McEwen, Morgan, B. Endress, W. Endress, Kiker, Campbell and McAllister. Robert "Bob" Young will manage the Lockleys.

Mt. Jackson To Battle Alumni

The Mt. Jackson high basketball team of 1938-39 will battle the Alumni team of yesteryears at the Mt. Jackson high court tonight, it was announced by Coach Ralph Spears.

There will be a fast preliminary game starting at 7:30 o'clock. The Mt. Jackson varsity team will make a determined bid for the county title and also Section 21 this year.

LINCOLN-GARFIELD WINS

The Lincoln-Garfield Gra-Y team defeated the Croton Gra-Y team 28 to 2 with Stoner the star of the battle.

MANAGERS WILL HAVE MEETING

The managers of the City Basketball league will have a meeting at The Arena tonight at 8 o'clock with Franklin Cisei in charge of the meeting. The purpose of the meeting will be to vote on the taking into the league of the Lockley basketball team. There are seven teams in the loop at present.

Favorable action in regard to the Lockleys is expected to be taken by the managers and league officials.

CADETS-ST. JOES TIE

In one of the most exciting gridiron battles of the season, the St. Josephs and Cadets battled to a 6-6 deadlock, recently, on the George Washington field. The Cadets tied the count in the final period. The two teams will play again this Sunday, at 2:30 o'clock.

Sharon Roller Team Victors

The Sharon Roller Hockey team was victorious 4 to 2 over the Masked Marvels of New Castle at the Arena floor on Wednesday night. It was the playing of Hudspeth that won the game for the visitors in the final period.

The game was delayed an hour or more when the Sharon men on way to New Castle had an accident at New Wilmington. There were no serious injuries. The local team is coached by Robert Mason.

Last night's hockey results: New York Rangers 6, Montreal Canadiens 5; Detroit 1, New York Americans 1 (tie) in an overtime period.

Followed the Redskins' Trail

Peter Gigliobianco, 7, self-elected mascot of the Washington Redskins, is fed by Captain Turk Edwards, in New York, before the team left for Washington. The team thought Peter was the son of a band musician, took him with them, and the boy, eager for the ride, went gaily along. The boy's return home ended a kidnap hunt.

Football Coaches Are Asked To Look Over Rule Changes

Several New Rules Suggested By National Federation Of Inter-Scholastic Committee

Many Coaches Will Probably Be Opposed To Several Of Suggestions

International News Service Sports Writer

HARRISBURG, Dec. 9.—Pennsylvania high school grid coaches and officials were asked today to study five present football rules and a dozen possible changes as the basis for establishing regulations for the 1939 season.

In a questionnaire issued by the National Federation Inter-Scholastic Football Rules Committee, coaches and officials of the Pennsylvania Inter-Scholastic Athletic Association were asked to answer "Is this satisfactory?" on these five present rules:

- 1.—A free kick must always be made from between the inbounds lines.
- 2.—Penalty for most fouls during or prior to a kick, pass or fumble is from previous spot.
- 3.—No player may kick or bat a loose ball.
- 4.—Penalty for illegal shift is five yards.
- 5.—A minor incompleteness in B's end zone is a touchback only on fourth down.

Back To Goal Line
Included among the possible changes advanced by the national federation was one which would replace the goal posts on the goal line—a previous method still used in professional football.

Another would allow a player to re-enter the game during any quarter. Still a third would eliminate the one remaining case of "free ball" while a fourth would conflict with the present rule of a minor incompleteness in B's end zone resulting in a touchback only on fourth down. The proposed new ruling would give B the option of a touchback or the ball at the previous spot.

Grid coaches and officials, however, were expected to clash and disagree as to the relative value of many of the possible regulation changes advanced. Briefly, they were:

- 1.—Consider try-for-point as starting with the snap instead of when the whistle blows.
- 2.—If a foul occurs in continuing action following dead ball (anywhere) enforce as for a foul between downs.
- 3.—Make penalty for illegal touching of kicked ball 15 yards from previous spot (with ball awarded to B if penalty is declined).
- 4.—Legalize use of goal on goal line with padded off-set posts wherever the home management chooses to provide them.
- 5.—Eliminate the one remaining case of "free ball" and enforce the penalty for foul during such period from spot of last possession. (Similar to enforcement for foul during return kick or pass not from scrimmage).
- 6.—After a pass has been first touched by an eligible player of a: (A) Allow any originally eligible player to complete such a pass; (B) Consider all players eligible after the touching; (C) Retain the present rule.
- 7.—If (6) is adopted, allow B to intercept any time (even after ball has touched ineligible player).
- 8.—Allow player to re-enter during any quarter (same as present provision for fourth quarter).
- 9.—To make penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct by players and by non-players consistent: (A) Change penalty for 5B-2-1 to same as for present 5B-21; (B) Change penalty for 5B2-1 to same as for present 5B-1-2.
- 10.—When there is a minor incompleteness in B's end zone on fourth down, allow the B option of a touchback or ball at previous spot.
- 11.—Allow ball dead immediately for (A) backs in motion; (B) illegal shift.
- 12.—Allow umpire or field judge to use whistle to kill ball when it is out of bounds or dead for other specified reasons.

Overnight Sports

(International News Service)
Major league officials headed for New York today, leaving the minor leagues in New Orleans to settle their own individual problems. The biggest deal on the fire as the big-timers headed for New York was one in which Washington might send Shortstop Cecil Travis to Detroit for Eldon Auker.

Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey won the Edward Nell memorial trophy for his work in promoting the welfare of boxing.

Pirates May Trade Blanton

Brooklyn Dodgers Hot After Pittsburgh Pitcher, Giants May Get Bonura

TRAVIS AUKER DEAL IS WARM

By GARRY SCHUMACHER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 9.—Leaving the minor league convention to its own devices, major league club owners and managers departed from New Orleans today, leaving for discussion next week at the major league meeting in New York, the few significant player trades that have been suggested here.

Possibly the most important of these involves Cecil Travis of the Washington Senators. The Detroit Tigers are keenly interested in the hitting shortstop and have tentatively offered Pitcher Eldon Auker in swap.

Bonura to Giants

Clark Griffith, Washington president, has suggested to Detroit's Del Baker and "Spike" Briggs that they consider the matter at the American league meeting. In New York, too, Griffith counts on completing the sale of Zeke Bonura to the Giants. It is understood now that only Connie Mack of the Athletics has declined to waive on the first baseman slugger, and "Griff" believes he can persuade Connie to relent.

"Griff" and Sam Breadon of the Cardinals seem to own the ball players other clubs want. They have a full appreciation of that and are acting coyly.

At these baseball sessions, Brooklyn's Larry McPhail is the loudest and most persistent talker. Few of the other club-owners seem to value Larry's players as highly as he does. Today he's supposed to be dickering with Pittsburgh for Pitcher Cy Blanton, but "no progress" is the only report at the moment.

Frankie Frisch, ex-manager of the Cards, has decided not to take the New Orleans managerial post. On the surface it looked like the best minor league proposition that will be offered this year—$12,500 per annum. After 20 years in the majors Frankie apparently felt that he doesn't know enough about minor leagues to gamble on a future in the Southern league. He's going back to New York tonight—"prepared to stay there," he says, "until a major league job presents itself."

No Heavyweights For Louis To Box

Dempsey and Tunney Both Contend That Joe Louis Has No Equal In Ring Today

HARD TO FIND WORTHY OPPONENTS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney may be as far apart as the two poles in their views on most topics, but on anything pertaining to boxing—the subject they both know best—their minds are strangely in tune.

Thus, today we find the two ex-heavyweight champions agreeing that there isn't a single heavyweight in the world now capable of giving the present champion, Joe Louis, a decent work-out.

Gene and Jack further agree that most promising of the current crop of youngsters—fellows like Lou Nova and Bill Boyd—are still a year or two away from a title shot. As for the rest of them, the Tony Galento, the Max Baers, and Tommy Farrs, they rate a dime a dozen with Gene and Jack.

Not Even Galento
It probably will be a painful surprise to Tony Galento, the barrel-shaped pride of New Jersey, to learn that both Gene and Jack think that he, as a fighter, is the bum he so often calls Louis.

"Louis would knock Galento out in one punch," said Dempsey. Tunney went a bit farther.

"If they ever met," said Gene, "the right might end fatally for Galento. Nobody can tell how much Tony was weakened by his recent siege of pneumonia. He's dead game, easy to hit, and he can't fight a lick. If he was able to get up several times, he might be killed. Louis is the most deadly hitter the ring has seen in years and he couldn't miss such a wide-open target. I think the referee would have to be very alert to prevent an actual killing in the ring."

Giants Sell Hasin

Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees sold Bobby Reis, his utility veteran to St. Paul of the American Association.

The Giants sold infielder Mickey Hasin to San Diego of the Pacific Coast league by way of completing the purchase of Pitcher Manuel Salvo.

Coast observers insist that the Giants have purchased in Salvo the best minor league pitcher of the year—a hard ball flipper on the Hal Schumacher order.

Jerry Nugent of the Phillies also dickered in the player mart. Nugent purchased Les Powers, who played first base for Jersey City, from the Giants for a reported $10,000. Powers will replace Phil Weintraub who was sold yesterday by the Phils to Minneapolis.

Steadier Tone In Stock Market

Plus Signs Predominate In Trading Of Morning In New York Market

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A steadier tone developed in the stock market today, following the preceding day's fair-sized reaction. Plus signs predominated.

Considerable irregularity was apparent and price changes with few exceptions were limited to narrow proportions. Trading also continued at a sluggish pace, first-hour sales being restricted to 100,000 shares.

The market was extremely quiet and mixed at the opening. As the morning progressed a slightly firmer tone developed, but few groups were able to show any pronounced trend.

Steels maintained relatively firm front, with Bethlehem and U. S. Steel each up about a half-point.

Chrysler was a shade above last night's close, but General Motors was virtually unchanged.

Among the representative stocks to chalk up fractional gains in addition to the above, were DuPont, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Goodyear and American Can. Consolidated Edison, Johns-Manville, Chesapeake & Ohio, Sears Roebuck and American Smelting were easier.
